The Wasp Waist
Interesting War
How We Die
No Eternal Torturer

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

WASP waists are coming back, says Paris. The loose dress conceals the laced corset making the naturally thin woman look thinner. Men interested because one young woman secretly tightened, ate little and died because nature could not rebel against the outrageously tight waist.

Fashion warning will do no good, if it is the fashion. Women take a pride to make them thin, knowing that it weakens the heart, and eventually causes death.

THE London Express, owned by Lord Beaverbrook, well informed, says that Italy is preparing war against Jugoslavia. Mussolini will make conquests in the Balkans. Perhaps he will roam these regions restoring ruined Roman cities, as Lucullus, to oblige his beautiful young Greek girl friend, restore the temples in Greece.

IT would be interesting, Mussolini and Kemal Pasha fighting. The latter, you remember, sent word to Mussolini, "Make war against me, and your people will be to find burying room for your dead Italians."

SUCH a war would show how much of the Italian Bonaparte survives in Mussolini, how much of the old Mohammedan conquerors in Kemal.

Let us hope no sloppy American correspondents will find it necessary to send us news to that fight, or finance it, as it goes along. Once was enough.

SOME day, says a London publication, death certificates will tell the truth, for instance:

"Died after 30 years of overwork."

"Smothered to death, worked, lived and slept in unventilated rooms."

"Poisoned by his wife, she did not know how to cook."

TWO millions of death certificates might be added, "Died at the top. His brain never taught to work, gradually dried up."

In America big life insurance companies, that pay bills for millions of funerals, fight foolish living and death very ably, with advertising and free advice.

Under Mr. Haley Fiske's management the Metropolitan Life Co., for instance, has prolonged millions of lives by intelligent health advertising campaigns. It has doubtless saved $10 in reduced premiums and diminished death payment for every dollar spent on advertising.

THE Bishop of Liverpool and "Ridgeomy" Dean Ingle agree that Christians no longer fear or believe in eternal punishment.

The Dean says Christianity has given up the "eternal torment" belief during the last 75 years, and adds, "It is strange men ever believed that God whom Christ came to reveal, is an implacable torturer."

The old colored brother looked at it practically: "I don't believe in fire and brimstone lasting forever, because I don't believe no constitution could stand it."

Those that mourn the loss of an omnipotent being, creating miserable, imperfect creatures, then torturing them with fire for billions of years, may find comfort in the fact that things really worth while are not done through fear. ABSENCE of fear make them possible.

HAMILTON FYFE, able British editor, is here to tell us all about France, an independent agricultural nation, will never pay us a cent, and doesn't care what Uncle Sam does about it.

Germany, depending on trade, will continue to pay something with part of the money she is borrowing from us now, and will gradually cut payments to nothing.

Britain is sorry the gold standard was restored and sorry arrangement was made to pay us part.

THE one able man in Britain's Government, according to Mr. Fyfe, is Winston Churchill. It is interesting to remember that he got his intelligence from an American mother, daughter of a New York stock broker. Jennie. It must have come from her. for on his father's side, that of the Marlboroughs, there is little sign of mental life.

However, the Duke of Marlborough married a Vanderbilt girl, with an able father and mother. That will help to raise good children.

COUNCIL PASSES POLICE PENSION FUND MEASURE

$625.27, Representing Profits of Recent Concert, To Be Used as Nucleus

An ordinance establishing a Police Relief and Pension Fund in Marion and authorizing the organization of a board of trustees to have charge was adopted Monday night by City Council at its semi-monthly meeting.

The city auditor was authorized to receive from W. B. Strayer, Director of Public Safety, money now in his possession as a result of the recent benefit concert, as a nucleus for the pension and relief fund.

The police department's share of profits from the concert totalled $625.27, Mr. Strayer stated today, and this amount will be used to establish the pension fund. Included in this money are several special contributions made by local business men and firms.

It is understood that other donations are likely to be made and that as the municipal finance permit, occasional additions are likely to be made from the city treasury.

The board of trustees in charge of the pension fund will consist of the Directors of Public Safety and Public Service and five members of the police department. The board will meet and organize as soon as the legislation enacted by council becomes effective.

FRENCH CROWN JEWEL IN $275,000 GEM LOOT

Paris, Oct. 13—The Samoun Rose diamond, one of the jewels of the crown of France and a world-famous gem, was among the loot taken by thieves who entered the Grand Conde Museum during the night, the police announced today.

The thieves, who entered Chantilly Chateau through a window made away with $275,000 worth of jewels, which were on exhibition in the Grand Conde Museum.

The Samoun Rose diamond is valued at $150,000.

Among the loot were jeweled daggers and sabres, gold antique watches and miniatures.

WANTED TO SEE THEM BURN, HE TELLS POLICE

Cincinnati, Oct. 12—"It was just an impulse. I wanted to see them burn."

That is the answer said to have been made by Louis Hyatt, 21, to officials who questioned him regarding a confession that he set fire to two buildings here recently which resulted in losses of $13,500.

"But after I did set them on fire, I ran home, I didn't want to see them burn after all," he said.

Fire department officials and physicians are investigating the youth's case.

QUEEN MARIE ENTRAINS FOR BOAT AT CHERBOURG

Roumanian Legation and Prince Carol Bid Her Farewell at Station

Paris, Oct. 12—Queen Marie of Roumania, accompanied by her suite, left Gare St. Lazzere shortly before noon today aboard the boat train for Cherbourg where she will board the S. S. Leviathian for the United States. The queen and her party traveled in special coaches attached to the regular train.

Members of the Roumanian legation bade the queen farewell at the train. The French government will pay its respects and extend its good wishes at Cherbourg through an official representative of President Doumergue.

Prince Carol caused a sensation when, just before time for the train to depart, he arrived at the station in company with his royal mother. Both appeared in jovial mood, chatting together amiably. The prince kissed the queen goodbye aboard the train and afterwards patted her hand which she extended from a car window as the train pulled out at 11:25 o'clock, 15 minutes late. The queen was plainly agitated, blowing her nose and wiping tears away from her eyes with her handkerchief.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PROTESTS BUS PROPOSAL

Disapproves of Operating Line Between Detroit and Columbus Through Marion

Asserting that the territory is already adequately served by present motor and railway facilities, the board of directors of the Marion Chamber of Commerce at its monthly meeting Monday afternoon adopted a resolution protesting to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio against granting any of the three applications that have been filed by bus companies for permits to carry local passengers over proposed routes between Columbus and Detroit through Marion. Three companies are seeking such permits and their applications will be up for hearing before the state commission on October 20.

No objection is filed against any of these companies doing an interstate business between Columbus and Detroit which is regulated by federal laws and consequently is outside the jurisdiction of the state commission. The applications, however, ask for the right to carry passengers between various stations within the state of Ohio and it is against this provision that the local Chamber of Commerce directors protest.

Two of the applicants want to operate the busses over a route running north from Marion through Upper Sandusky and Findlay and one has asked for a permit over a route passing through Bucyrus. All of this territory has all its transportation needs well taken care of by either the C. D. & M. or C. M. & B. Electric Railways, the Hocking Valley and Pennsylvania Railways, or the Maag Bros. Bus Company and as a consequence there is no call for additional service, the local board asserts. It is maintained that creating new competition would probably result in crippling service that is now entirely satisfactory.

NEW CABINET FORMED IN CZECHO-SLOVAKIA

Prague, Oct. 12—The Czecho-Slovakian cabinet, headed by Jan Cerny, has resigned and has been succeeded by a ministry under the leadership of M. Svehla, who has previously served as premier.

The new cabinet has two German ministers and for the first time the German minority in Czecho-Slovakia has cabinet representation.

Dr. Edouard Benes remains as foreign minister in the new cabinet.

WORK ON CITY'S 24-INCH WATER MAIN FINISHED

New Line Being Flushed Preliminary To Connecting It with Distribution System

GIVES CITY TWO LINES

Many New Hydrants To Be Installed with Larger Fittings and Capacities

Work on the construction of a new main pipe line from the plant of the Marion Water Co. to the city, which has been in progress during the most of the summer and early fall, has been completed and today the line is being flushed preparatory to connecting it up with the community's water distribution system.

The connection will be made some time this week and will be accomplished without any perceptible effect upon the city water service, George H. Whysall, manager of the company, said today.

Laying of this line, which is part of the extensive program of improvements and extensions the company will make under the provisions of the franchise recently granted by City Council, will add greatly to the effectiveness of Marion's fire protection and provide an extremely valuable safeguard against accidents which might cripple the city's water service.

Two Main Lines

Two main force lines will serve the community when the new one is connected up, the old line, which has been in use during the 35 years that the local water plant has been in operation, still being in good condition. The new line, which was laid alongside the Harding Highway over the larger part of its course, is 6,100 feet in length and is at the junction of Silver-st and the Harding Highway, where connection with the city's distribution lines will be made this week.

While the new line is required under the provisions of the company's franchise, construction work was started before the franchise was granted, Manager Whysall said. Only a part of the company's improvement schedule has been completed. Next year the main pipe line will be continued up Silver-st and probably thence down Leader to connect with the Center-st line.

Many new hydrants of a larger type providing stronger pressure for fire protection service, are to replace the ones now in use. In all, the company will expend more than $175,000 in its improvement program.

In addition, a water softener system is to be installed, probably next year. This will cost about $140,000. After this improvement is installed, the line in Marion's city water will be reduced

SLAIN OFFICIAL'S WIFE IS APPOINTED SHERIFF

Mrs. Anna Bosler Will Serve Out Husband's Term in Champaign County

Urbana, Oct. 12—Mrs. Anna Bosler, 52, today became sheriff of Champaign County following her appointment by the county commission to serve out the term, expiring Jan. 1, of her husband, Jacob K. Bosler, 53, who was killed by Harry Sprague, 40, former state insane asylum inmate, while trying to arrest him on complaint of Mrs. Sprague, who said her husband had threatened her.

Prosecutor Marion B. Owen has summoned the grand jury to meet tomorrow to probe the shooting.

Sprague told the coroner's jury here last night that it was the sheriff who fired the first shot.

When Bosler entered the apartment and began firing, Sprague testified, he returned the shots. He said that the sheriff had fired twice but investigation showed that but one shell in the officer's gun had been discharged. Sprague advanced the theory that other officers had shot the sheriff, but the fatal bullet corresponded in caliber to that fired by the man now detained, according to the coroner.

AMERICAN GIRL LINKED IN ROYAL ROMANCE

Miss Tallulah Bankhead.

The name of Miss Tallulah Bankhead, daughter of Representative and Mrs. William Bankhead of Alabama, and who has won a name for herself on the stage, is now linked with that of Prince Nicholas of Roumania, who will accompany his mother, Queen Marie, and party, to this country. The rumor of the reported romance is doubly interesting because of his approaching visit.

Marion Star's Annual Cook School Will Open Next Tuesday In Auditorium

This Year's Event Expected To Surpass That of Last Year; Mrs. George O. Thurn, Culinary Expert, Will Conduct Sessions Here

Women of Marion and Marion County together with girls of the city and county schools interested in domestic science will be guests of The Marion Star at its cooking school which will open next Tuesday afternoon in The Star Auditorium.

Plans for this year's school equal, if not surpass, last year's series of lessons and it is expected a record crowd will be in attendance at each day's session. Sessions will be held Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Mrs. George O. Thurn, expert in culinary art, will conduct the school, giving special attention to the planning of menus, well-balanced diets and economical buying. The talks will begin at 2 o'clock promptly each afternoon. A half-hour musical program furnished through the courtesy of the H. Ackerman Co., will precede the lectures and demonstrations.

Nursery for Children

In order that everyone will have an opportunity to attend the school plans have been made to care for the children in a well-equipped nursery on the floor as the school. Mrs. G. E. Waddell, kindergarten instructor, will be in charge of the nursery and ample provision has been made for the entertainment and comfort of the youngsters.

By way of celebrating the event housewives will receive with Tuesday's issue of The Star a tabloid section containing choice recipes from the domestic science departments of Harding High School, taught by Miss Priscilla Smith, Central Junior High School, taught by Miss Anna Parks, and Vernon Heights Junior High School taught by Miss Mella Van Meter, and recipes contributed by the domestic science classes of the county schools. Practically every girl in the High School and Eighth Grades of the city and county will contribute to the section.

Mrs. Thurn together with her assistant will arrive in Marion Monday night and Tuesday morning will devote her time to the arranging and superintending of the placing of her equipment.

Ranked High

Mrs. Thurn is ranked high in her chosen work, not so much because of her scientific training, which is extraordinarily thorough but because of her practical originality and her powers of observation. She adds daily to her own store of knowledge and best of all she knows how to impart this knowledge to others.

Mrs. Thurn has gained a national reputation through the Federated Women's Clubs of America having carried off laurels for her work in the Home Department of the Women's Club at South Bend, Ind. Added to this she has taught many groups of young people the art of entertaining and cooking good substantial foods. Her public speaking work began with the World War when she devised ways to use substitutes. She knows strictest economy and believes in it but her economical theory is based upon good judgment.

Her laundry hints are of special interest to all those who wish to learn how to save the wear and tear on clothes and how to fold linens properly.

Mrs. Mary Weidemer witnessed the crash, unaware that her husband was in the plane.

Osgood Refunds $2,520 Loaned To Pay City Firemen

Money Will Be Used To Purchase Site for Summer Cottage, Where City's Protective Force and Families May Spend Vacations

CITY COUNCIL APPROVES PROPOSAL

Funds Returned Were Loaned to Municipality During Period of Financial Stringency Early in 1924; City Plans Other Reimbursements

A summer home where members of the Marion police and fire departments and their families may spend their vacations and other periods of rest and recreation is provided for in a bequest made by the Osgood Co. in connection with an ordinance adopted by the City Council, Monday night, refunding $2,520 which the company advanced to pay salaries of firemen during the financial stringency of 1924.

The Osgood Co. will return the money to the city treasury and a committee will be appointed by Council to arrange for purchasing a site for the firemen's and policemen's recreation center. It is likely that a location on the lake shore, as near as possible to Marion, will be selected. According to a clause in the ordinance, request for appointment of a committee to make the purchase was made by Osgood Co. officials.

Refund of the $2,520 and return of the money for the recreation center project is a result of a crisis which arose in municipal finances early in 1924 and which threatened for a time to necessitate dispensing with the services of most of the local police and firemen and to otherwise seriously cripple public service. The problem was finally solved with funds voluntarily contributed by the Marion Osgood Co. and other local firms and citizens and by the levying of an occupational tax.

Makes Loan Offer

On April 30, 1924, the Osgood Co. sent a communication to G. Farr Lorie, then chairman of the council finance committee, offering to pay the salaries of three firemen and on May 12 the proposal was accepted, with the understanding that should the city ever

PERSHING AND PARIS IS CRY OF LEGIONNAIRES

"Black Jack" Cheered When He Makes Appearance at Convention

Sesqui Auditorium, Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 12—Pershing and Paris.

Members of the American Legion today unmistakably manifested their intention of electing the leader of America's World War hosts as their next national commander and have him lead them back to France for the 1927 convention.

The election will not take place until Friday. The convention sits will not be chosen until tomorrow. But everything is "in the bag."

The convention demonstrated its overwhelming preference for General Pershing when "Black Jack" made his first appearance on the platform today. A demonstration with state banners, similar to those of national political conventions even was started. Speaker after speaker, including two official representatives of the French government, referred to Paris as the site of the 1927 convention. The delegates stood up on their chairs and cheered.

The "time and place" committee attempted to bring forward its report recommending Paris this morning, but lack of time prevented and formal vote will be taken tomorrow. The legionnaires were to parade this afternoon.

CHURCHES PLAN MASS MEETS TO GET OUT VOTE

Rallies Will Be Held Throughout County Sunday, Oct. 31, by W. C. T. U.

Plans for mass meetings to be held Sunday, Oct. 31, in the various churches of the county under the auspices of the Marion County W. C. T. U. were made at the meeting of members of Lillian Stevens W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. O. Toms, 8, State-st.

The meetings, in which the Marion County Ministerial Association will participate also, are to be rallies to get out the vote at the general election Tuesday, Nov. 2.

PROPERTY TAX TO STAY IF RESTORED—COOPER

Fostoria, Oct. 12—"If the half-mill property tax is restored, as Governor Donahey advocates, you can paste it in your hat that it will be on the statute books to stay," Myers Y. Cooper, republican candidate for governor, declared in speeches at Findlay and here today.

Asserting that the half-mill levy "would reach into the pockets of the people and take out $7,000,000 a year so that the state government at Columbus could go on to new heights of extravagance," Cooper said he was opposed to it, "because I believe it to be unnecessary."

Cooper was scheduled to speak at Sandusky tonight.

Dempsey Declares He'll Fight His Way Back to Title Bout or Quit Forever

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—Jack Dempsey, deposed heavyweight boxing champion, will fight his way back to a bout for the heavyweight championship or quit the ring forever. The defeated champion made this known in an interview given out today in his hotel here after having conferred with friends and his handlers in the Tunney fight.

"I'll take on all comers, provided, after two or three months' rigorous training I believe myself fit to return to the game and be as effective as I was before my three-year layoff," Dempsey said.

Dempsey outlined his plans in detail, pointing out the course he expects to follow in fighting himself back into the championship and the prestige that had been his before he met Gene Tunney.

"I expect my legal troubles to be settled in about three weeks," he said. "I will then go to my home in Los Angeles and start training at Griffith's Park. I expect to work there for two or even three months, boxing and doing roadwork.

"If at the end of that time I feel fit, I will start fighting. I will make a tour taking on all comers, good or bad. I don't expect to make money. I may lose some. But I want to test my fighting mettle and determine if I have the stuff left.

Dempsey now appears to be the picture of health. The rash that broke out shortly after the Tunney fight has disappeared and the discolorations about his face are entirely gone. There remains a red scar over his eye where it was split in the Tunney fight, but it is healing rapidly and will disappear within a few days.

City Council Orders Strict Enforcement of Measure Regulating Truck Weights

Pavements on Some of City's Main Streets Threatened with Serious Damage as Consequence of Heavy Traffic, Claim

Strict enforcement of the law which prohibits trucks with loads exceeding 10 tons in weight from traveling over public thoroughfares was ordered by City Council Monday night after it was disclosed that the law is being disregarded in Marion.

Pavements on some of the main streets are threatened with serious damage as a consequence of this traffic, according to statements made before council, and it was decided to instruct the police department to arrest the driver of any truck carrying a load in excess of legal limits.

The chief offenders, according to information submitted to council, are drivers and owners of trucks which have been hauling stone and other supplies used in improving country roads near the city. It is claimed that the law has frequently been disregarded during the last summer.

The matter was brought before council at its semi-monthly meeting Monday night by Councilman T. J. Mead of the Second Ward, who stated that he had received complaints against truck drivers. The trucks are loaded at the stone quarries, located north of the city.

State Law Cited

The state highway law places a limit of 10 tons on the combined weight of a truck and its contents and the rule is rigidly enforced in many places, according to a statement made to council by City Engineer T. S. Carlisle, who said that the city of Marion ought to follow the same policy in protecting its streets.

While it is believed that no serious damage has been done by the truck traffic up to this time, a couple of asphalt [illegible] ing to reports.

J. A. Wise of the First Ward read a clause in the city's traffic ordinance which limited a 10-ton limit for vehicles, the same as the state law. He explained the belief that every provision of the ordinance should be made effective.

16-Ton Load

A member of Council stated that he had received a report of one truck with a load that made a total weight of 16 tons, being run over the streets several weeks ago. This was cited as an illustration of the law violations, although it is regarded as an exceptional case. The average excess above the 10-ton limit has not been more than one or

Five Slain, 9 Wounded in Crime Carnivals in Two Cities

ENTIRE POLICE FORCE OUT IN SAN FRANCISCO

Desperadoes Who Murdered Three, Wounded Five Being Sought

San Francisco, Oct. 12—Every San Francisco police officer was ordered on duty today in an effort to trap the pair of desperadoes who murdered three men and wounded five others in a carnival district early today.

A. Hansen, a taxi driver, was killed when the bandits shot and killed him as he sought, a steam shovel operator, to help him. The pair then went to a cafe, where they held up the cook, customers and waitress at the point of guns drawn. Louis Lucas, the cook, thinking it was a joke, began laughing, whereupon one of the men sent a bullet crashing into his chin and then rifled the cash register.

From the cafe, the pair walked to a gasoline station where three men were talking. John Duane, a night watchman, started to run and was shot and instantly killed. R. A. Hayden and C. W. Johnson, the other two men, started to advance toward the thugs. Hayden was halted when a bullet was fired into his neck and Johnson was wounded in the arm. The bandits then rifled the cash register in the station and headed toward the waterfront.

A. Anderson, a sailor, the next victim, was slugged and robbed and the bandits then drove to another filling station where Steve Walker was slugged and robbed just as an officer, Dorsey Henderson, drove by. Henderson opened fire on the pair. The two men leaped out of their car and escaped into the railroad yards.

The police department ordered every police officer to report for duty last night. More than 1,000 rifles were requisitioned from the National Guard to equip the officers for the man hunt.

A man may resolve to quit a good many practices of various kinds, but the Penitentiary is often the only instrument to make him quit.

MACHINE GUNS MOW DOWN SIX CHICAGO MEN

Well-Known Criminal Attorney Many Die from Serious Wounds

Chicago, Oct. 12—Every law enforcement agency in Cook County, reinforced by state and federal authorities, had joined forces today to forestall further casualties in gangland's "war of extermination," which reopened here yesterday in an amazing spectacle of wholesale murder.

Within 3 minutes after gangster machine guns had mowed down six men in the street in front of Holy Name Cathedral, killing two and probably fatally wounding a third, Chief of Police Morgan Collins, Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker and four assistant state's attorneys were in secret conference, devising plans to prevent further bloodshed.

Today, four separate investigations were under way in an effort to unravel the maze of contributory factors that led to this latest rampage of gangland. Federal agents, coroner's deputies, police officials and the staff of the state's attorney's office were conducting own inquiries.

Gang Leader Killed

Those killed in yesterday's battle were:

Earl "Hymie" Weiss, gang leader and successor to the late Dean O'Banion, and Paddy Murray, gangster brother of Jimmy Murray, who was sent to prison for his part in the recent Rondout mail robbery.

William W. O'Brien, prominent criminal lawyer, noted for his defense of gangsters, was perhaps fatally wounded. O'Brien at present is engaged as attorney for Joe Saltis, gangster ally of Weiss, charged with first degree murder.

Benny Jacobs, investigator for O'Brien; Edward "Nigger" Goldberg, an alleged lieutenant of Weiss, and Sam Peller, another friend of Weiss, were seriously, but not fatally wounded.

The shooting was dramatic.

Weiss, Murray and O'Brien are said to have met at Schofield's Flower Shop on N. State-st, where Dean O'Banion was shot to death by gangsters. As they stepped into the street to go home, the withering fire of a machine gun, mounted in a window directly across the street from Schofield's, opened fire upon them. Weiss and Murray dropped, mortally wounded. O'Brien ran several feet before he, too, fell. He was able to crawl into a doorway, however, out of the deadly spray of bullets.

Priests Give Aid

Peller, Jacobs and Goldbery, stood near Weiss's auto when the firing started. They escaped the first volley which was directed at the group of Weiss, Murray and O'Brien, and ran into the center of the street. Jacobs and Goldberg were armed with automatics and they opened fire on the machine gunners whose heads showed above the window sill.

As the machine gun switched its murderous fire on the trio in the middle of the street, Jacobs and Goldberg fell. Peller was shot in the leg as he ran. Priests from Holy Name parish house nearby rushed to the scene and anointed the two dying men and O'Brien.

The machine gun fire stopped as suddenly as it began. Mrs. Anna Rattarin, landlady of the rooming house in which the machine gun nest was sheltered, said that two men, carrying "armfuls of firearms" ran down the steps to the rear of the house, climbed into a waiting automobile and sped away. Police later found the machine gun in an alley nearby.

It was the Thompson type the same that killed Assistant State's Attorney McSwiggin in Cicero several months ago. Mrs. Rattarin said she had rented the room to a "Oscar Loudan, who worked nights." She is being held for further questioning. Jacobs, Goldberg and Peller were placed under arrest.

The authorities are convinced the attack was just another chapter in the bitter feud between "Scarface Al" Capone's Cicero gang and the Weiss-Drucci combine who have been waging a relentless war for control of the beer and alcohol traffic of Cook County.

Police have been expecting such a flareup since it was learned that a "peace parley" between Capone and Weiss held at a downtown hotel three weeks ago had failed.

Weiss is said to have walked out on the negotiations after Capone refused to place two of his men at a given spot to be assassinated by Weiss' gangsters in retaliation for the attempt to slay Vincent Drucci, Weiss' partner.

Squads of detectives were scouring the bad lands of Cicero today in search of Capone and members of his gang.

City Council Divided on Plans For Redistricting Marion Into Six New Wards

Definite Action Postponed When Objections Are Raised to First Arrangement Favored by Majority of Special Committee

Two maps outlining different plans for redistricting Marion into six wards in compliance with the state law were submitted to City Council Monday night by City Engineer T. S. Cathers, a member of the committee appointed to make recommendations on the new arrangement.

Because of a division of opinion among council members on their choice of the two plans, definite action was postponed.

Six councilmen were present, three of them favoring the plan which would give the city six wards extending laterally between the north and south corporation lines and three expressing their approval of the other plan which arranges the redistricting so that the six wards would be more rectangular, with Center-st as the main dividing line, similar to the present four-ward system.

Council Divided

After it was evident that council was divided on the matter, City Solicitor Grant E. Mouser, Jr. urged that conferences be held at once for the purpose of coming to an agreement as soon as possible. Considerable legislation will be necessary to put the redistricting into effect and ample time must be given the County Board of Elections for establishing new precincts in accordance with the new ward arrangement, the Solicitor informed Council. All details must be attended to prior to the primary election in August of next year.

As a result of Mr. Mousers' suggestion, E. M. Murphy, president of Council, announced that a conference of the entire body will be held for the purpose of discussing the matter and in hope of reaching an agreement before the next semi-monthly meeting, when final action is likely.

"Plan A" Favored

A letter from City Engineer Cathers accompanied the two redistricting maps. It stated that of the five committee members, three approved "Plan A," while two would have all six wards extend parallel between the north and south corporation lines, while two voted for "Plan B," which distributes the wards north and south of Center-st.

Under the provisions of Plan A, the ward boundaries and estimated voting population in each ward, are as follows:

First Ward—Number of voters, 1868; east corporation line to Jefferson and Summit-sts.

Second—1,960 voters; Jefferson and Summit-sts west to Ballentine-av and Vine-st.

Third—2,272 voters; Ballentine-av and Vine-st to Prospect-st.

Fourth—2,418 voters; Prospect-st to Leader and Windsor-sts.

Fifth—2,075 voters; Leader and Windsor-sts west to Toledo av. Edwards and Davids-sts.

Sixth—1,837 voters; Toledo-av. Edwards and Davids-sts to west corporation line.

Plan B Provision

The provisions of Plan B are as follows:

First Ward—2,400 voters; from north corporation line south on Main-st to Center-st, thence east to Lincoln-av and north to corporation line.

Second—2,220 voters; from north corporation line south on Main-st to Center-st, thence west to corporation line and north to corporation line.

Third—2,025 voters; west on Center-st from Hocking Valley Railway to corporation line and thence south to corporation line.

Fourth—2,615 voters; south on Prospect-st from Center-st to corporation line, thence west to corporation line.

Fifth—2,075 voters; east on Center-st from Prospect-st to Sargent-st and Cummins-av, thence south to corporation line.

Sixth—2,075 voters; east on Center-st from Sargent-st to Lincoln-av, north to corporation line, east to corporation line, thence south to corporation line.

Chief Objections

The chief objection to Plan A seems to be based on the claim that the north and south sections of each ward would be too widely separated, so that the councilman elected to represent it would experience difficulty in attending to the needs of the entire area.

The redistricting is compulsory under a provision of the state law which apportions the number of wards and councilmen for a city in proportion to population. Marion having reached a point in the last census which places it in the six-ward class. Two additional councilmen will be elected next fall, making the total membership of the body nine instead of seven. The new arrangement should have gone into effect following the 1920 census but was overlooked as a result of state authorities having failed to send official notice here.

Members of the redistricting committee serving with City Engineer Cathers are A. W. Kette, clerk of the board of elections, and Councilmen Wilkins, Owens and Good.

Motive Power Department of Hocking Valley Leads in Division Safety Contest

August Report of Campaign Received Here Today; Began July 1 and Will Continue Remainder of Year; Winner To Get Cup

The Motive Power Department of the Hocking Valley Railroad leads in the safety contest being conducted in the three divisions of the company, results in the July and August reports show.

The August report of the contest was received here today.

The contest began July 1 and is to continue the remainder of the year, the winner receiving a silver loving cup as a reward. Each accident in one of the departments gives that department a debit of so many points, the number of points depending upon the seriousness of the accident.

Totals for July and August show the Motive Power Department leading with only 17 accidents and 17 debits in the two months. According to this record, the department has one debit to each 43,385 man hours.

The Maintenance-of-way Department comes next with only 14 accidents but 39 debits, the rate of one debit to each 14,532 man hours. It is noticed that this department has less accidents than the leading department but is held back with a large number of debits.

One Fatality

One of the accidents was fatal, giving the division 25 debit points. The accident occurred in July when one of the workmen of the Maintenance-of-way Department was killed in the Delaware yards.

The Transportation Department ranks third and last in the contest with more debit points than the other two departments combined, having 60 marked up against it.

It also has one fatal accident on its records, which accounts for almost half the debits. Thirty-five other accidents registering only one debit each bring the total to 60, for the two months, averaging on debit to each 14,350 man hours.

A comparison of the records of the Hocking Valley for the two months discloses the fact that there was eight more accidents during August than July. Thirty accidents were reported in all three departments combined during July while 38 were reported during August.

A list of the methods in which the accidents during August occurred is given in bulletins posted in the vicinity of the Hocking Valley offices and yards. This list is printed in order that a study of the causes may aid materially in reducing similar accidents during the remainder of the year.

A report of the contest at the end of September is expected within the next few weeks.

Reduced Rates

Railroads this year will grant reduced rates to the 1927 convention and road show of the American Road Builders' Association, to be held Oct. 20, in the Philadelphia Building at the Sesqui-Centennial, Philadelphia.

The announcement was made today and will affect rates of the railroads operating through Marion.

The railroads, according to the bulletin received here, will grant one-half return fare to all members of the Association, and their families attending the 1927 convention.

Previous to this year, the reduced rates have been extended only to delegates to the convention.

Rail Briefs

John Trickey, Hocking Valley watchman at the Silver-st crossing, is off duty because of sickness in his family.

J. E. Sifritt, coal accountant of the Erie Railroad, Kent Division, was on duty along the Kent Division yesterday, surveying conditions in relation to coal loading and unloading.

Today is pay day for employes of the Hocking Valley Railroad. Pay for the second half of September will be received here. Although banks are closed because of a holiday, many railroaders cashed their checks today at their grocery store or other business places.

COLUMBUS DAY REVIVES ROMANCE OF "GREAT ADVENTURE"

No matter what conflicting claims have arisen as to the discoverer of America, nothing can detract from the glamour which surrounds the story of Christopher Columbus. It is certain that the European development of North America is a direct result of the daring and fixed purpose of the Portuguese navigator whose discovery of the West Indies on October 12, 1492, is celebrated every year on the recurrence of that day. The group of illustrations above show an authentic portrait of Columbus and, right, above, his appearance at the Court of Isabella of Spain soliciting her aid in his venture. Below is a motion picture recreation of Columbus' meeting with the Spanish Council, in January, 1402, to present his theories and tell of his projected voyage.

NEW TRIAL IS NOT LIKELY FOR H. M. DAUGHERTY

Jury Reports Disagreement in Case of Former Attorney General and Miller

New York, Oct. 12—A new trial appeared likely today in the case of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, freed yesterday when the jury in the $441,000 conspiracy trial reported a disagreement and was discharged.

United States Attorney Emory R. Buckner, who prosecuted the case, pointed out today that the indictment still stood against both defendants, but said he would not know for a month whether or not he would bring them to trial again.—Buckner and his assistants plainly showed their disappointment.

Senator Borah, in Washington, indicated that Daugherty and Miller will be compelled to testify before the Borah committee to investigate transactions of the alien property custodian's office. The committee is not expected to meet before December.

Leave for Homes

Daugherty was enroute to his home in Columbus, Ohio, to have his inflamed eye treated. Miller left for Wilmington, Del., to visit his two children. He will attend the American Legion convention in Philadelphia and later will go hunting with the governor of Nevada, a personal friend.

Daugherty and Colonel Miller, who holds the distinguished service medal and is a former congressman from Delaware, were charged with conspiracy to defraud the government of their unbiased services in the transfer of $7,000,000 worth of stock in the American Metal Co. from the alien property custodian to Swiss interests.

Miller was openly jubilant at the failure of the jury to agree on a verdict, but Daugherty said he was disappointed because he was not acquitted.

AIMEE AND HER MOTHER SPEND DAY AT BEACH

Legal Holiday Halts Preliminary Hearing of Woman Evangelist

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 12—Aimee Semple McPherson, the auburn-haired evangelist, and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, planned to spend today at the beach during the recess over the legal holiday of their preliminary hearing on charges of conspiring to defeat justice.

When court reopens Wednesday morning, Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Seilaff, witness for the prosecution, will continue her astounding narrative of how Mrs. McPherson hired and coached her to declare publicly that it was she and her sister, "Miss X," and not the Angelus Temple pastor, who spent 10 days with Kenneth G. Ormiston in a Carmel-by-the-Sea cottage.

The former Angelus Temple radio man in an affidavit sent from Chicago, admitted he lived 10 days at Carmel with a woman identified only as "Miss X," immediately following the disappearance of Mrs. McPherson, his former employer, at Ocean Park.

Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Seilaff was permitted to testify over the vehement objection of the defense attorney and had just swung through the preliminary stages of her confession of the "Miss X" hoax when court adjourned until Wednesday. Defense attorneys objected to her testimony on the ground that she was mentally incompetent and waved a copy of a Salt City order committing her to an insane asylum to bolster their contention.

Mrs. Wiseman-Seilaff told of negotiations in San Francisco with a "Miss Martin" who instructed her to come south to "clear the name of Mrs. McPherson" of connection with the Carmel incident.

If It's the Law, It's a Bad One.

We do not profess to be acquainted with the facts in the case of the three Columbus taxi drivers arrested on the charge of operating a bus line as a result of having brought to this city from Columbus twenty-three delegates to the district gathering of the Daughters of Pocahontas. There may be facts and circumstances of which we have no knowledge, facts susceptible of proof as well as legal facts, which would, were they known to us, cause us to see the case in a far different light. But if the report printed in our news columns yesterday carried all material facts, and a conviction is possible under the law in such a case, it strikes us that it is a mighty poor law.

We believe that our interurban lines should be protected. If any taxi or bus company makes a practice of competing with them without state authorization, we believe it should be penalized to the limit of the law. But if there is a law under which a party may hire or rent a taxi or a car, or a number of taxis or cars, to make a specified trip, at a specified time, it is our opinion that such a law should be repealed.

Let us say that a party of Marion citizens wish to drive to Columbus, to return in the early morning hours, and that none of them cares to undergo the tension of driving his own car in the night season when he is tired and sleepy. So the members of the party go to the local Quick Service Taxi company and engage three cars for the trip, the cars to be subject to their order from the time of leaving till the time of their return. If that can be construed as competition of the C., D. and M. under existing law, or is directly held as competition by any existing law, it strikes us that it is high time that such a law be amended so as to be somewhat less embracing in its application.

Such a law places a handicap upon the man not financially able to own a car of his own. Such a law forces a man who does not own a car to undergo inconveniences which the car owner does not suffer. He must either hire a special interurban car to return late in the night season or remain over night in the city of his destination and return by scheduled steam or electric service. Such a law is but a step removal from one which would prevent a man from driving his own car between two points connected by an interurban line.

A School Building Program.

The city of Marion is very fortunate in the matter of the housing of her school youth, far more fortunate than many cities of the state, and the enviable situation in which she finds herself at present should be maintained. Many Ohio cities are sadly in lack of school room, but this city has been able to meet the demands of the school enrollment by the somewhat arbitrary transferring of pupils from crowded buildings to buildings upon which were fewer demands for seating facilities.

But while present seating facilities are equal to present requirements, it is manifest that the time is near at hand when there will be need of more room. The enrollment this term is something less than a hundred in excess of what it was a year ago. The pause in our population advance which was manifest a year ago is no more. The city is again picking up population from the outside and this, with the natural increase from within, will soon bring before our citizenship once more the problem of accommodating our youth of school age. The problem may not arise next year, or the year thereafter, or the year after that, but it's bound to arise, and when it does come we should be prepared to meet it. We should not be taken by surprise and be forced to handle the problem in the haphazard course we have so often followed in the past.

Impressed by this thought as brought out in a report to it by Superintendent Jesse H. Mason, the board of education has authorized the superintendent to secure the services of an expert from the department of administration of Ohio State university to make a complete survey of the local school conditions in preparation for a comprehensive building program looking to the school needs of Marion for the future and doing away with the old plan of taking action only after the emergencies develop. That there may be no fear that this proposed survey will cause excessive expenditure, it may be well to say that the expert selected will come and render his services through his interest in educational matters and not for pay, that the cost will be limited to the actual expense of the survey.

While the tax burden our people are bearing is admittedly a heavy one, it is our belief that they will always be found ready to meet any necessary expenditure to furnish high-class facilities for the education of our school youth. They may not want to increase their tax costs so long as such increase is unnecessary, nor would we want them to do so, but when the time comes we believe they will be ready to meet any demand deemed necessary made upon them, and meet it gladly. And more than that, we believe they will approve the action of the board of education looking to a survey preparatory to the mapping out of a building program. Under such a program we will be able to know what we are doing and what is to be done. We will be able to look ahead and prepare for the demands of the future. We do not in this case refer to the demand for school room, but rather to the financial demand caused by school-room construction. They will be able to go along with their school authorities when the program is carried out, and know the whys and wherefores of this and that and the other, which, we believe, will be a source of satisfaction to the tax-payers and force a closer bond between them and the schools.

We repeat, we believe the building program plan will meet with the approval of our citizenship. We believe such a plan should long ago have been adopted, and we approve of it most heartily. If we had one suggestion to make in connection therewith, it would be that the utmost consideration be given to the architectural phase of any plan which may be adopted; that effort be made to the end that any buildings erected in the future may offer a maximum in the way of room for actual school work and a minimum in the way of waste space. That this course has not always been followed in our school construction has been a matter of rather general criticism. Let us hope that such criticism will be obviated by future construction.

According to the publishing experts over there, a London cable tells us, England is tiring of sex novels and turning to detective, adventure and mystery stories, which shows that we are pretty much alike the civilized world over, as the same trend is being manifested here. And no one will deny that it is time for a change, for we have certainly had a long spell of putrid nastiness on both printed page and stage.

UNCLE SAM: "I RECKON I HAVEN'T GIVEN THAT CHILD ENOUGH ATTENTION."

Cleanliness a Factor in Ailments.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

One of the most common and disagreeable of all the simple ailments is known to the laity as "piles." The doctors call the trouble "haemorrhoids." But no matter what name is applied to the condition, it is annoying, at least, and may be extremely painful.

Not always is it the case that itching and smarting of the rectum are due to piles. There may be a trifling irritation of the skin in that region, which is kept inflamed and disturbed from the lack of cleanliness.

This part of the body should be carefully washed with soap and water, once a day, certainly, and better still, twice a day. Cleanliness will do wonders in promoting comfort.

The dense network of nerves and blood vessels found in this region makes it a natural place for some disturbance. If the circulation of the blood is sluggish and the habits of life are sedentary, haemorrhoids are liable to appear.

Constipation is apt to be the first one of a train of symptoms which ends in rectal trouble. Straining at stool helps to develop piles.

The painful sensations and the bleeding are common symptoms of the disease. In advanced cases the lumps and swelling become so great as to cause protrusion of tissue from the rectum.

In the treatment of piles there are local remedies of great value. Such applications contain soothing, healing and astringent ingredients.

I know such a "cure" which, for several generations, has been used in a family of my acquaintance. Of course, it is too much to think any given remedy will cure every case of a given disease. But, as regards piles, there is no doubt that the relief of constipation, together with the application of a well selected local agent, will do wonders in bringing about a cure.

Your doctor will tell you what to use for local relief. He may have his favorite remedy, but if he turns to the doctor books for suggestions he will find a great array of prescriptions. As one writer says, "the treatment of hemorrhoids was old when Hippocrates, the 'Father of Medicine,' was born."

In a recently printed work on medicine I found no less than fourteen different pile ointments recorded. Anything that soothes and protects the parts will go far toward permanent relief.

But regardless of the local remedy used, bear in mind that cleanliness is of first importance. Careful bathing will do much to relieve the annoying symptoms of rectal trouble.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

M. K. K. Q—What causes saliva to flow continually from my mouth when I live down, and is there any remedy for this trouble?

2—I am seventeen, five feet two inches tall—what should I weigh?

A—Usually due to hyperacidity. Watch your diet and be sure that the intestinal tract is kept clear. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2—You should weight about 116 pounds.

R. H. Q—Would a sluggish liver be apt to cause an unpleasant taste in the mouth and bad breath?

A—Yes. Proper attention to the diet and regular elimination should clear up both symptoms. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

MISS E. S. Q—What can I do for excessive perspiring of the hands?

A—Try using a solution of alum, two drachms to a pint of water, after washing the hands. This should check the trouble to some extent. Excessive perspiration is usually due to a nervous condition and if the trouble persists the nerves should be treated.

* * *

L. F. Q—What will help an oily skin? What will relieve enlarged pores?

2—What can be done for hard bumps on the face?

3—What do you advise for sore, tender feet?

A—An oily skin is usually due to some fault in the diet. Correct your diet and avoid poor elimination and you will probably benefit. Oily skin and enlarged pores may both be helped by appling hot and cold compresses alternately for five or ten minutes twice daily.

2—You probably have reference to acne—watch your diet and avoid constipation. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

3—Change the shoes and stockings frequently and bathe the feet in warm water to which a little alum has been added. This may be done every night and will prove soothing.—Copyright, 1926.

A woman in an eastern city left a bag of jewelry worth $5,000 in a taxicab. The other day she learned that the driver had turned in the wealth to the police station.

"I only did my duty," said the taxi driver.

Go back into the boyhood of that taxi driver and somewhere you will find some training—home, school or church. Probably it was home training, for that is the best. He learned not that it is a fine and showy thing to be honest. He didn't learn that he would get credit for being honest. He simply learned that it was his duty as a man and a citizen to be honest. What a wonderful lesson that is, once it is learned!

There is an old story about a little boy who had read a tale about a house with golden windows. Early one morning he set out to find the house with the golden windows. He trudged all day up hill and down the valley. Toward evening he climbed a hill. Looking back he saw the house—the house with the golden windows. It was his own home with the light of the sunset in its western windows. A lesson for grown-ups in that as well as children. A LOVE SONG.

O to think, O to think as I see her stand there
With the rose that I plucked, in her glorious hair,
In the robe that I love,
So demure and so neat,
I am lord of her lips and her eyes and her feet.

O to think, O to think when the last hedge is leapt,
When the blood is awakened that dreamingly slept,
I shall make her heart throb
In its cradle of lace,
As the lord of her hair and her breast and her face.

O to think, O to think when our wedding-bells ring,
When our love's at the summer but life's at the spring,
I shall guard her asleep
As my hound guards her glove,
Being lord of her life and her heart and her love!

Interesting Questions Asked and Their Answers.

Q. What would happen if an irresistible force came in contact with an immovable body? P. R. K

A. The bureau of standards says that the existence of these two conditions at the same time is impossible according to all known laws. As the very existence of the two conditions at the same time can not take place, it is necessarily impossible to state what would happen if the condition did exist.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 12 — The metropolis has scores of men who have featured certain idiosyncracies of dress or ornament that have become so to speak "trade marks." Just as Jim Brady was known by his diamonds so are they known to the public by this and that.

New York does not ridicule these gestures. In fact it seems to stand in awe of them. They become a part of the passing show and as such receive no small amount of publicity. Indeed at times they seem to overshadow the individual.

Belasco would not be Belasco without his clerical collar. It is a sentimental tribute to his early days in a monastery. Louis Mann's flaring winged collars may be seen at every first night. He even wears them at golf.

Morris Gest's rakish black plush hat and flowing tie are as familiar to Broadwayites as Times square. Beau Gest has worn them since his first appearance on the Rialto just as Berry Wall, now a Paris boulevardier clings to his ponderous puff tie.

Paul Whiteman's thin little needle pointed mustache is an institution. Flo Ziegfeld's lavender collars to match his shirts are equally familiar. Sailing Baruch's silver hair parted down the back is as well known as Tex Millard's gray derby or Al Bedell's choke collar.

Earl Carroll has gone hatless these many years. Ben Bernie features snow white gloves and Irvin Cobb wears those of a canary yellow. Percy Hammond's collars are a robin's egg blue. Lowell Sherman has lately taken to a monocle with Picadilly insouicance.

Also Ben Ali Haggin's suave unhand-me-villain mustache. Grant Clark's wild mop of hair. George White's polka dot hat bands. Ned Wayburn's sweater. Bud Fisher's leather sport coat. And Abe Erlanger's cap. All these and more are righ lights in the moving promenade.

These eccentricities of dress alone are worthless without achievement. This was strikingly proved by a good looking fellow who became known as "The Man in White." He was a singer from Norway who after a futile quest for a job was advised to do something to attract attention. So he strolled Broadway and Fifth avenue for more than a year, hatless and clad in white silk shirt open at the throat, white trousers, shoes and sox. In all sorts of weather he paraded. He received columns of publicity, but no job and returned to his native land.

A hospital doctor tells of a patient brought to his institution who ate the rubber tips off lead pencils. He couldn't give up the habit and an operation upon the stomach was necessary. He probably wanted to become a bounder.

The same doctor tells of a dinner party he attended. The host discovered in the waiting room there were just thirteen guests. He was extremely superstitious and after a few hurry calls on the telephone were of no avail he walked to the street and explained his dilemma to the first respectable-looking citizen he saw. The stranger was brought in as the fourteenth guest. He was placed next to a very charming lady and the sequel is that he married her six weeks later.

* * *

A better story might be to show that the fourteenth man really brought good luck by permitting him to pay the check.

There used to be a club in New York that held an annual dinner to show their contempt for popular superstitions. I recall they walked under ladders, spilt salt, sat thirteen at a table, broke mirrors and the like. I have not heard of it lately and I'm afraid to ask for fear something terrible has happened to the whole crowd. —Copyright, 1926.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

First thing when I got back to New York from Europe, people started telling me jokes, and they all qualified as the worst for any particular day. There was one, for instance, about a baritone singer that had been showing off at a party. This boy, they told me, had made two audiences run for their lives when he appeared on a vaudeville bill, and then he made himself the life of the party when a lady friend of the manager of the theater made quite a mistake and invited him to sing. Before the party was altogether broke up from people going home to get away from the singing, this here hostess passed around fresh cocktails to hold the audience and then she invites this baritone guy to sing some more.

"It's awful late, you know," says the singing rooster, modestly. "I'm afraid of waking up the people next door with my strong tones."

"Go ahead and punish 'em," says the perfect hostess. "That's what this here party is for. Didn't they poison my fine Angora cat day before yesterday?"

Well, at that, I've heard a lot of hozos singing on the stage that ought to be using their talents for some such good cause as this one. —Copyright, 1926.

Who's Who and Why.

W. S. STOUT.

We frequently hear of poor immigrant boys coming to America and making good, but rarely do we hear of poor American boys emigrating to some foreign country and making good. In the latter class belongs W. S. Stout, of Toronto, Canada, president of the Canadian Express company.

Stout was born in Havana, Illinois, August 5, 1858. As a young man he served as cashier for the old Pacific Express company, in St. Louis. In 1882 he was lured to Canada by an offer to manage the Dominion Express company, then a small concern operating in the province of Manitoba.

To such purpose did young Stout labor that by 1884 the scope of his company's operations had greatly increased and the head office was moved from Winnipeg to Toronto.

The business has since continued to grow, until today its operations cover all of Canada and it has an army of employes. The name of the company was recently changed from the Dominion Express to the Canadian Express company and Stout was reelected president.

Marion Cemetery To Have Large New Stone Entrance

$8,500 WILL BE EXPENDED FOR IMPROVEMENT

Contract or Work Awarded to John Baldauf & Son by Association

The Marion Cemetery Association has awarded a contract to John Baldauf & Son, local contractors, for a new stone gate and entrance at a point south of the present entrance on Delaware-ave. Edward Hochstetter will supervise the laying of the stone.

Plans and specifications are being drawn by Wilson, Hochstetter & Moore, architects for the McNeal-Wolford company, contractor. This concern will begin the work which is to be completed as soon as possible.

The present two-way entrance gates in the center are to be removed to make room for the new gate of the cemetery where it is to be made from Vernon-ave. a short distance north of the Harding Memorial. By moving the new entrance south of the old entrance on Delaware-ave. it will be possible to make the approach more attractive and with better grade, according to architects.

Grecian Design

The new gates are to be of Grecian design, explained Architect Fred L. White this morning. "They will be built from posts with Bedford stone bases and caps. The shafts will be of Ohio Blue limestone with variable broken joints.

"By locating the new gates 20 feet south of the present entrance it will be possible to place them 15 feet inside the line fence facing Delaware-av. This will add considerable to the beauty of the entrance in addition to making the driveway much safer.

"The gates will be connected to the present fence with stone posts and curved sections of steel fence.

"The top of the iron gates in use at present will be removed to be placed at the Vernon Heights-blvd entrance on the south side, according to present plans," concluded Architect White.

Association Officers

Officers of the Marion Cemetery Association are: President, D. R. Crissinger, governor of the Federal Reserve Board; Vice President, C. D. Schaffner, acting president during the absence of President Crissinger; Attorneys C. C. Fisher, E. K. Uhler and Josh Ledler, trustees; and Harry Merchant, secretary.

rehabilitate its finances sufficiently, the loan would be repaid. Several weeks ago local officials announced that as a result of retrenchment policies and additional revenue, it would soon be possible to make the Osgood refund. Plans of the company to return the money for the establishment of a firemen's and policemen's recreation home were not anticipated, however, and announcement of the project came as a pronounced surprise to city officials only about a week ago.

Future Refund

At Monday night's council meeting City Solicitor Grant E. Mouser, Jr., stated that it is the city's plan to refund as soon as possible all other contributions made to meet the 1924 crisis. These refunds, which will be paid as balances become available in the city treasury, will be $6,880 to the Marion Steam Shovel Co., $1,794 to merchants and manufacturers of the North Side, and $1,547.96 to a group of local retail merchants. All of these contributions were made to help maintain fire department service, the North Side business men having taken up a collection to keep the Mark-st station in operation.

Just when these contributors will be reimbursed is not known at this time, but there is likelihood that all of the accounts will be paid before the close of next year unless unforseen emergencies arise. City officials say that municipal finances are now in better condition than at any other time within the last 10 years.

In addition to the funds loaned for operating the fire department, the Marion Steam Shovel Co. also paid for the services of one policeman during the period of stringency and local merchants paid the salaries of three patrolmen in the up-town district. These obligations will also be included in the list of refunds to be made eventually.

LABOR MAKES ATTACK ON HARRY DAUGHERTY

President William Green Turns Fire on Former Attorney General at Session

Detroit, Oct. 12—An attack on Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, whose trial on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government ended in a jury disagreement, broke out at today's session of the American Federation of Labor convention here.

President William Green, in opening the session, turned his fire on Daugherty.

"The fact seems to be established", he said, "that while the jury was divided, nevertheless it was quite impossible for the ex-attorney general of the United States to prove his innocence. He is the same man who during the railroad shop strike interested himself on behalf of the railroad lines.

"He it was who in his official capacity obtained the most drastic injunction ever issued against the working people. He it was who declared that as long as he was attorney general, the closed shop would not be tolerated and the open shop would prevail.

"He is the man who used his power against the organized workers when they attempted to secure decent working conditions.

"If the jury was unable to agree and did not find him guilty, I am sure the greater jury, the American public, will have its own opinion regarding the guilt of that man."

from 41 grains, the present content, to 12 grains, and will practically eliminate the necessity of using cistern water here for any purpose. Rain water frequently contains as high as seven and eight grains of lime, analysis has shown.

The local water plant, located two miles west of the city, has two pumps with a daily capacity of 3,000,000 gallons each, although one is sufficient to supply the city's needs under normal conditions, the daily consumption here averaging about 2,500,000 gallons. In addition to this equipment, the two old pumps of 1,500,000 gallons each which have been in use since the plant started operating in 1888, are still in good working order and are used occasionally in order to keep them in serviceable condition.

Sixteen Wells

Sixteen wells supply the pumping station and two more are under construction and will be completed soon. Others will probably be added next year.

When all of the improvements are completed, the water company will have facilities for supplying the needs of a community four or five times the size of Marion, Mr. Whysall says.

The plant generates its own electrical power and has a hook-up with the C., D. & M. Electric Light & Power Co. as an additional safeguard. An average of 2,500 tons of coal are burned annually in operating the plant, a coal unloading machine being used to empty cars sent from the mines.

Handles Details

In putting in the main line just completed and in all of its other improvement and expansion work, the water company management is handling all of the details, no contracts having been let. Every ailable workman who could be employed was used in rushing the force line project through to completion.

Connection links were installed at several points along the route, one being placed at the Garden City Pike so that a hook up can be made there should that section of the city ever be developed. The Erie Railroad Co., the largest local user of city water, will be hooked up with the new force line, adding greatly to fire protection for the company's yards and shops.

RAICHLEY WILL CASE GOES TO CIRCUIT COURT

Suit Scheduled for Hearing on Appeal and Error Wednesday

The Raichley will case, involving a contest over the estate of the late Burr Raichley of Marion, who bequeathed all but a small part of his property to the Marion Masonic Temple Co., will be up for hearing on appeal and error, Wednesday, before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati. The court will hear arguments on the petition of relatives of Mr. Raichley, who are seeking to break the will and who lost in the first round of the contest several months ago in the United States Court at Toledo. The suit, which involves several unusually important points of law, may reach the Supreme Court of the United States before it is finally decided, attorneys said.

Title of Suit

The title of the suit, as it stands before the Circuit Court of Appeals for Wednesday's hearing, is May Berg and Frederick C. Raichley, plaintiffs in error, against Harry J. Merchant and others, defendants in error. Mrs. Berg and Mr. Raichley are cousins of Burr Raichley, who had no direct heirs. Mrs. Berg is a resident of Minnesota and Mr. Raichley lives in Wisconsin. The defendants in error are Mr. Merchant and Clyde C. Smith, executors of the will, and the officers of the Masonic Temple Co.

An imposing array of counsel will appear in the Circuit Court to argue the various phases of the case. The plaintiffs are represented by William P. Moloney of Marion, two law firms in Kansas City and one in Toledo. The defendants' counsel consists of Guthery, Strelitz & Guthery, Mouser, Young & Mouser, John H. Bartram and J. H. Eymon, all of Marion.

W. P. Moloney, Fred E. Guthery, Grant E. Mouser Sr., J. H. Eymon and John H. Bartram went to Cincinnati today to prepare for Wednesday's arguments. Mr. Eymon is attorney for the executors of the will and the other defendant counsel will represent the Masonic Temple Co.

In Toledo Court

After the suit was filed in United States Court at Toledo, a demurrer was filed by the executors and Masonic Temple Co. asserting that the federal tribunal had no jurisdiction in the case, due to the fact that all of the parties and interests involved are in Ohio. Jurisdiction rests exclusively with the common pleas court of Marion County, was the claim advanced in the demurrer.

Judge Westenhaver of the United States court in Toledo sustained the demurrer and dismissed the petition and it is this decision which has been appealed and will be up for argument Wednesday.

Burr Reichley, a bachelor, who resided many years in the old Reichley homestead at Church and State-sts, died early in March, 1924, making his will five days prior to the day of his death. The will was admitted to probate in Marion County on April 21 of that year and suit to set it aside was started shortly afterward in United States Court.

COUNCIL ACTS TO PAY CAPTAIN "DEACON" ULINE

Stricken Fireman Granted Six Months' Leave at Half Salary

In recognition of his 28 years of service as a member of the Marion Fire Department, Captain Hyde Uline of the Market Station, who was recently stricken with paralysis, was voted six months leave of absence at half pay in an ordinance adopted by City Council Monday night. The provisions of the ordinance were adopted transferring $300 from the general fund to the safety fund to pay Captain Uline during the remaining four months of the city's fiscal year.

This action of council was necessary because of the fact that the rules regulating the local firemen's indemnity fund stipulate that a member of the department must be in active service when pensioned. Captain Uline is now slowly recovering at his home on Wabash-st.

Action Postponed

Action on a proposed amendment to the city's traffic ordinance was again postponed when Mayor Hazen called attention to an apparent defect in the provisions of the ordinance, which has been under consideration more than a month. In designating the junctions of Silver and Oakdale and Silver and Leader as new traffic stop points, the ordinance stipulated that machines approaching from either direction should be brought to a stop.

The mayor expressed the opinion that one street, probably Silver, should be designated as a main thoroughfare and that only cars coming from the side streets be required to stop. Members of council agreed that this contention is correct and accordingly had the ordinance held over until the next meeting. It was referred to the ordinance committee for revision. The purchase of Superior and Prospect and State and Fourteenth were also listed as new stop points.

Passes Resolutions

A resolution authorizing the construction of a sidewalk and storm water sewer on Vales-st, between Sixteenth and Fifteenth, was passed as was a resolution directing the water company to extend its lines on Fourteenth.

A petition requesting that Wildwood-st be resurfaced with asphalt was referred to the street and alley committee. It was signed by 15 property owners. A concrete foundation is already in place on Wildwood-st.

"PETTING" PARTIES O. K. IN SUMMIT COUNTY

Akron, O., Oct. 12—"Petting" parties are permissible in Summit County, at least as far as the sheriff's office is concerned.

Sheriff Chris Werner has dismissed one of his deputies for arresting young couples in automobiles on the highways. But the latter did not wait for the sheriff's action to take revenge. They set on him recently, badly beating the officer before he could be released. It was claimed that the deputy had "grafted" on the couples.

Can't Eat Acid Foods, Too Much Gas

"I suffered from gas and acid stomach, and could not eat anything that contained acid. Since taking Adlerika, I feel fine."—James Fest.

Adlerika gives the system a REAL cleansing and brings out old poisons which may have caused trouble for a long time. Unlike most medicines, it acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and takes away that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never thought was in your system and which caused sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists.—Adv.

Sure Way To Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Adv.

No Need to be Embarrassed by Catarrh

There is such a humiliation in the offensive breath, catarrhal deafness, constant raising of mucus and other annoyances of catarrh, that no one willingly puts up with it any more. Catarrh quickly disappears when you remove the cause. In every case catarrh is simply an inflamed condition of the mucous membranes of nose, throat and head. Reduce this inflammation and a healthy condition is restored. To do this use Hall's Catarrh Medicine. It has been found most effective for over 40 years. Your druggist has it. Or the combined treatment will be mailed direct if you send 25c to F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Mrs. Marie E. Garner Roundly Praises Tepee Herb Tonic As a Remarkable Medicine For Nerves

Mrs. Marie E. Garner, 668 E. 118th St., Cleveland, firmly believes in giving credit where credit is due and when opportunity presents itself she always passes out a good word for Tepee Herb Tonic, which she says is responsible for the great improvement in her health. She is very appreciative as this statement shows:

Mrs. Garner says: "I had a pain near my heart that was very alarming. It cut me when I took a deep breath. Experts didn't seem to know what my trouble was.

This pain would be so bad at night that I would have to get out of bed and walk the floor for hours at a time before I could get any relief.

"I couldn't sleep soundly and I got so nervous that the least little noise would frighten me. My housework was a burden because I felt tired all of the time.

"I read about Tepee Herb Tonic in the newspapers. Then some friends who had used it told me about it.

"I thought I would try just one bottle to see if it would do me any good. In fact that first bottle helped me so much that I am now on my fourth bottle and am feeling splendid.

"That pain near my heart has entirely disappeared. I have a good appetite and enjoy my food. I am not bothered with tired feelings any more.

"My nerves are stronger and sudden noises do not startle me like they did.

"When I go to bed I go right to sleep and seldom wake up all night long. Tepee Herb Tonic is also good for constipation.

"I am surely glad to recommend this medicine and I hope any person who feels like I did will try it."

Tepee Herb Tonic may be had in Marion at Bradley's, Heaney & Cooper's, Wm. M. Stump's Bartlett's, and all drug stores, Richwood, H. D. Kyle.—Adv.

Rev. and Mrs. P. R. Clouser Honored With Reception

Members of the congregation of St. Paul's English Lutheran Church entertained with a program and social hour last night in the church basement complimenting Rev. and Mrs. Paul R. Clouser who left today for Carey where Rev. Mr. Clouser will take up the pastorate of Christ Lutheran Church. The guests included a number of friends aside from members of the congregation.

Talks were given by Dr. J. D. Darling, pastor of Wesley M. E. Church, Rev. Herbert F. Weckmueller, pastor of the First Reformed Church and Rev. Clouser. R. W. Ehresman contributed two vocal numbers and a piano selection. L. H. Craner presided during the program hour which was followed by a supper served by the women of the congregation.

Great living on the part of both the pastor and people was cited by Dr. Darling as the answer to a great need in the churches of the world today. "It is not what we say but what we do that leaves its imprint upon the world." Dr. Darling said. "Ministry is not a pastorate it is a ministry of love and bringing Jesus Christ to the world."

Pastor Talks

Rev. Weckmueller talked on the relationship between the pastor and congregation. "The first calling of a minister is that he should be a preacher", he stated. "He would bring the message of God to the people." He compared the relationship between the pastor and his church with that of a husband and wife in the sharing of joys and tribulations and pointed out that love was the fundamental relationship.

"Christian religion is a religion of fellowship and a religion of friendship," said Rev. Mr. Clouser in a brief message which closed the program of talks. He spoke on the theme "I Thank My God upon Every Remembrance of You." "A true pastor is thankful for every thing that comes into his life," he said. The achievements, discouragements and friendships of the years of his pastorate here were pointed out as thankful memories by Rev. Mr. Clouser.

Rev. Clouser came to Marion two years ago last January from Valley Junction, Ia. During his pastorate here he has built up the field of the local church and has been instrumental in the purchase of a new location and the remodeling of the church. He has been actively associated with the Marion County Ministeral Associaton and a number of civic activities.

Roberta Risks It

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

PIGGY'S dad found no solution, but by the time the adventurers had passed Worcester, Brazenose, sleepless, Piggy soothed himself with the reflection that Scott was a notorious bluffer. Unquestionably he intended to control the Brazenose Automatic Loom himself, if he could, perhaps, in the event of failure, he really meant to manufacture a similar machine. But the cost of perfecting one and building a factory would be high and the time required long and possibly meanwhile he might be conciliated. Resolving to resume the search for another threading device at the same time to walk warily, not letting no crinkled roseleaf to furnish endanger his relations with Scott, and daylight Piggy's father slept.

Not so Roberta's sire. He had heard from the detective. Late in the afternoon the little dark man in the blue serge had called him by telephone from the Pennsylvania Station, reporting that his quarry had vanished. Scott said things shattering the rules of the telephone company, and the detective transmitted a full verbal report of his discoveries.

The lady had been met by a young man of about twenty-five, he thought, with thick, wavy light-brown hair and gray eyes. No, he hadn't been able to learn who he was. They had gone to Sherry's, back to the Grand Central Station to order her trunks sent to the Congressional Limited, and then to the Waldorf. He repeated the conversation he had overheard there about Roberta's mythical client, Mrs. Miles, and the probable Saturday sailing. He had followed her across the river, some time after the young man had left her, had seen her buy a ticket for Washington, and had not lost sight of her until she entered the Ladies' Room at the station. To the best of his knowledge she had never come out.

Scott said more unprintable things, even while his eyes narrowed thoughtfully. It was possible that Roberta had come to take a client back with her—Nixon's expressed intention of marrying her might have been hope translated into conviction—but in that case why had she landed at Quebec? Yet why should she have bought a ticket for Washington unless she intended going there? Questioned, the detective said he was positive that neither the lady nor the young man had noticed that they were followed. They had taken no notice of him, and they would if they had been suspicious. Scott told him to telephone a Washington agency to send a man to meet the Congressional Limited and to report to him by telephone whether or not the lady was on the train. He would wait at his office for this information.

He hung up the receiver and thought for a moment. It looked all right. But Roberta was clever. And if she intended to try any funny business at Birchwood, he wanted to be there himself. Calling up his chauffeur, he instructed the man to be ready with the car and a packed bag at ten o'clock; they might have to drive all night. Then he rang for his secretary and informed her that they would work after dinner.

About nine o'clock Washington reported that there had been no passenger answering the lady's description on the Congressional Limited; and at midnight, having set his affairs in order for a few days and given his heavy-eyed secretary innumerable detailed directions, Scott set out for New Hampshire, via Greenfield and Winchester, a more direct though rougher route than that chosen by his daughter.

Thus it was that he chanced to meet between Keene and his country place a certain smart touring car, and turned to eye sharply the black-haired young chauffeur and the crepe-shrouded woman in the tonneau, not suspecting their identity, but inquisitive on general principles about any strangers following that road. And thus it was, too, that Piggy was led to remark:

"Ho-lee smoke! We've got to bump ourselves."

"How could he have traced us?" Roberta asked.

"Give it up. I don't believe he did. But he knows you're in this country and his sleuth lost you. Maybe that's why he hit the pike for the battle field. It would be like him."

"Yes—it would. But suppose he takes Celia away before we can get hold of her?"

"We mustn't let him."

"How can we prevent it?"

"Dunno. Depends on how he does it. But I haven't come up here to be licked at this game. Nary bit. There's too much at stake," quoth Percival Galahad. Little wotting that he played against the future of his own house.

"What are we going to do?" Roberta asked. "If we go on to Keene, he may take her away before we can get back."

Piggy nodded thoughtfully.

"Perhaps I'd better go straight to the house and have it out with him now."

"Not on your life! Boarding the lion and defying Jove may be all very well in poetry but you don't want to try any of that stuff on G. A."

"I did once."

"You were of age. She isn't. Legally he's the whole thing and we're nowhere, and if he ever catches us at this our name's Dennis. It's a case of strategy, Bob. Finesse and strategy." He stopped the car and looked back. "Anybody live on that high hill over there?"

"No. Not when I was here, anyway."

"Is your house in sight from the top of it?"

"Yes. Why?"

"We've got to see what's going on. Can you drive a car?"

"No."

"Then you'll have to be lookout. I'll leave you as near the bottom of the hill and we can get and hustle back to the house for my field-glass. Lucky I brought it. You hike for the hilltop and I'll find you. I'll be back p. d. q."

"But—Peter! It's all thick woods and brush. I'll tear my veil and—"

"Rats! Buy a new one. We've got to know what's doing."

"Well, suppose he does take her away? What can I do about it?"

"Beat it for the foot of the hill and tell me which way they went when I get back. We'll trail 'em. I don't believe he'll leave right away—he must have driven all night—but we've got to be sure."

INGROWN NAIL

Turns Right Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

SO Katie had been listening again to conversations which she was supposed not to hear. Despite my resentment at again being confronted with evidence of the vainly had tried to vainly had tried to cure her, I felt a tug of compassion at my heart as I looked at her frightened face.

There was something else which tempered my anger also. She had spoken half to herself of her wonder at my father's projected trip to New York, and I could not help connecting her astonishment with the mysterious cablegram which I had received from Hugh Grantland the night before, with its mandate to relay its coded contents to my father.

She and Jim had been my father's faithful servants at the farmhouse since he had bought the farm from me the autumn before, and with her propensities for harmless though irritating espionage she probably knew a great deal more of my father's affairs than he suspected. I could not stoop to ask her what she knew, but woman-like I was not averse to gleaning what I could from her knowledge even though it were acquired by methods which would not bear inspection.

Madge Rebukes Katie

I could not let her admission pass unremarked, however, but it was more in saddened resignation than in anger that I said with what sternness I could muster:

"Katie, you have been listening at the door again. What do you expect me to say to you?"

Her hand crept up to her lips and caught at them, evidently with the idea of steadying their trembling. To me it was a more pathetic gesture than the more familiar one of throwing her apron over her head and breaking into tempestuous sobs. I realized that the girl was more frightened at my knowledge of her spying than she ever had been before. I wondered if there were some reason for her evident terror besides her fear of my displeasure, which I knew was not very acute because of her knowledge of my predisposition to leniency where she was concerned.

"I Ought To Tell You"

She found speech at last, subdued, yet eloquent. "I tink you say vot vfer in your heart, but I tink you know your poor Katie mean no harm by you, only goot."

"I do know that, Katie," I said heartily, and with truthfulness. "But you know that you are doing a very wrong thing when you listen——"

"Oh! plees belief your Katie ven she say she no mean to listen dis time," she pleaded. "I haf to coom down by kitchenette, look after dose rolls Meester Graham like dot I set to rise, und I no can help hear Meester Graham call dot Major Grantland dot bad name—Fai——"

"Do not repeat it, Katie," I broke in sternly, intensely humiliated that anyone should have heard Dicky's gibing appellation of "Faithful Fido," in his comment upon Major Grantland.

"I no vant to burn mine lips mit eet," Katie rejoined liftily, and I remembered that she cherished a deep admiration for the former army officer. "But I no can help listening ven I hear you say cablegram vas for your fader, because——because——"

She stopped and eyed me curiously. "I tink I ought to tell you sometings, Missis Graham," she said, then added slwly, significantly:

"Sometings queer about your fader."

Bucharest, Oct. 12—A band of peasant bandits have applied American "methods" to continental crime. Rounding up the rural police, the bandits disarmed them and held them under guard while others of the gang pillaged at leisure. The loot amounted to 90,000,000 lei in cash and many jewels.

Children's Colds

Best Treated Externally

CONSTANT dosing upsets little stomachs. Modern mothers prefer to treat children's colds externally—with Vicks VapoRub. They simply rub it on the throat and chest at bedtime.

Vicks acts two ways at once:

(1) Like the old-fashioned poultice in "drawing out" the soreness and pain; and, at the same time,

(2) Like a modern vapor lamp because the body heat releases the ingredients in the form of medicated vapors which are inhaled all night long. These loosen the phlegm and open the congested air passages.

Most colds yield by morning to this double direct action.

Shake-Up in Ohio Conference Standings Due Saturday

Eight Elevens Have Not Yet Tasted Defeat This Season, Records Disclose

Oberlin Plays Western Reserve in Important Game; Pioneers Waking Up Under Direction of Gordon Locke; Review of Week-End Contests

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12—On the narrowing ledge of victorious games, eight Ohio Conference elevens are precariously perched. And four of them do battle among themselves in a brace of games that is due seriously to effect the final standings, this coming week-end.

With a throwback to the middle centuries when the philosophers used to dispute how many angels could stand on the point of a needle, this quartet of elevens are knuckling down to work with the constant melodramatic muttering of "this here world ain't big enough for both of us," as the leit-motif.

For Oberlin, undefeated since 1923, plays Western Reserve in Cleveland. Pioneers have no such enviable record, but under the able tutelage of Coach Gordon Locke have tallied 80 points so far in their two games as opposed to the grand total of 45 for all of last season. Western Reserve has tasted blood and expects Oberlin to be merely one of its defeated foes. But they're not laying down on the job. With each day's workout, the Iowa shift, which is being utilized, is snapping into more accurate precision. The Red and White will score and probably score several times and the sole question is whether the defense can withstand the drive of Poe and Hansberry in the Oberlin backfield.

The Congregationalists always start slowly and their two games against Baldwin-Wallace and Marietta have shown the Red and Gold eleven gradually working into formidable shape. Last year, Oberlin won 14-6 and this year Coach McEachron expects to repeat, but it will take all that the Bicyclists have to stem the Reserve attack. On dope, the Pioneers should win.

O. W. U. and Wooster

With a considerable number of years intervening since their last encounter, Ohio Wesleyan comes to Wooster to play the Black and Gold. With all due deference to the Battling Bishops, who are as good as the best in the Ohio Conference, they face no easy game. It was expected that the absence of Coach Boles, who has a year's leave, would affect the spirit of Wooster. But, instead of that, the squad is working even harder, if possible, with every bit as much spirit for Coach Art Murray. The morale and the play of Wooster so far this year, the skill in attack and the sturdiness of defense is a tribute to Coach Murray from his squad, who could use the absence of the chief of coaching as an alibi.

Wooster, with a big line and a sound plan of attack, its short effective kick and the fight with crusader spirit, will force Ohio Wesleyan to its utmost. If Coach Gauthiers team has suffered from injuries in the Ohio State massacre, the issue is seriously in doubt. The Methodists, by virtue of their chronic habit of winning, must reign favorites, but the margin is mighty small.

Lutherans Want Revenge

Just when the Wittenberg squad of 1925 was bitten by all eleven a Miami team came up and smeared it 30-0. This year, the Lutherans anticipate revenge and Saturday's game at Springfield will see a fairly strong Wittenberg outfit, rarin' to go and eager for vengeance against Miami. The Oxfordites have proved themselves dangerous, while dropping a game to Ohio Wesleyan showed considerable reversal of form against Ohio Northern. Wittenberg has been playing only non-conference opponents and the 40-12 loss to Ohio State doesn't minimize its power. It's a good toss-up with a slight edge to the Lutherans.

Denison, with two wins and nary a loss, bucks up against Ohio University at Athens. Last year, the Green and White mutilated the Big Red to a 26-0 tune, but that was last year. If the Denison line can come through, the Granville team will win and win decisively for the forward wall is its only weak link. It has the lead in the Buckeye Athletic Association also to think of and was victorious over Miami and

WITTENBERG IS PREPARING FOR BIG HOMECOMING

Local Alumni Will See Miami at Springfield Oct. 16

Assistant Coach Allen Bally Compton at Harding High and other local Wittenberg alumni are planning to attend the annual Miami-Wittenberg game at Springfield, Oct. 16. It will be the time of the annual alumni homecoming and the old boys will be calling upon the defenders of the Lutheran citadel to show the fighting spirit which gave the Wittenbergers that spontaneous brand.

Coach E. R. Godfrey of Wittenberg will be talking good sense to his charges this week when he mentions two big things in favor of a clean-cut victory over the lads from Oxford. He wants to begin the 1926 Buckeye Athletic Association with a victory and he wants to get revenge for last year's defeat (30-0 Miami.)

He has a better team and a fairer squad. Available men number 35 as against half that number in 1925. His freshmen squad of 46 men is giving him more trouble than some colleges his team will meet this year.

Godfrey shook up the whole works last week when he put erstwhile guards into tackle berths, and tackles overnight turned into guards. He's not satisfied with the blocking so far this season, and he wants tackles who "get 'em and hold 'em."

Father Coached Champ

M. Charles Lenglen, father of the great Suzanne, recently told how he taught his daughter the game that made her the world's champion tennis player. When Suzanne was still a child, he said, he coached her in the net style used by men players. As a result, Mlle. Lenglen learned the latest technique employed by men, and thus obtained a big advantage over her women opponents.

ST. LOUIS AGAIN BACK TO NORMAL

Two Dead, 30 Others Hurt in Traffic Jams

St. Louis, Oct. 12—With a casualty list of two dead and more than a score injured, this city gave its final cheer for the world's champion Cardinals and today returned to a normal state of mind.

Forty thousand persons jammed Sportsman's Park last night when a public reception was held for the conquering heroes and sent up cheer after cheer as the baseball celebrities appeared on a platform constructed in the center of the diamond.

Alexander, Thevenow, Southworth and others were acclaimed by the multitude of fans who came to show their appreciation of the team that brought the first world championship to St. Louis. The celebration was lacking in one respect, the absence of Rogers Hornsby, who departed earlier in the evening for Austin, Texas, to attend the funeral of his mother.

The reception was the final demonstration of the fans. During Sunday night's outburst, two persons were fatally injured and about 30 others were injured in traffic accidents.

COLORED GIANTS DROP MATCH AT AGOSTA, 12 TO 2

Kale Hurls Great Game for Victors in Five Innings

Marion's Colored Giants lost at Agosta Sunday by a score of 12 to 2 in a fast five inning game.

Simmons pitched a good game for the losers and had four strikeouts. The winners collected 11 hits and scored on all but one. The big inning came in the fifth when the winners crossed the plate six times before the Giants could get them out. The Giants scored only in the fourth.

A. Kale hurled a great game for the Agosta Stars and only allowed 10 men to face him in the five innings. He allowed one hit and fanned five.

FOUR TEAMS TO PLAY IN NORTH CENTRAL LEAGUE

Harding To Meet Ashland Here, Delaware to Shelby

Four high school football teams are scheduled to play North Central Ohio League games this week.

Ashland with its 6 to 0 Galion defeat and 6 to 0 score from Delaware will be here to meet Harding High Saturday at the fairgrounds. Harding High won 13 to 9 last Saturday at Findlay, lost 6 to 0 to Galion, the same as Ashland and was defeated 2 to 0 in the first game at Columbus Central. Galion's 6 to 0 wins over both Ashland and Harding shows by scores that the teams are fairly evenly matched. Harding has the weight advantage. Ashland is strong, light and fast. Last Friday Ashland lost a non-league game to New London, Ashland County, 12 to 7.

Delaware will visit Shelby Saturday. Delaware's first league game was the scoreless affair two weeks ago with Ashland.

Shelby appears much the stronger according to season records. Last Saturday it won from Crestline, 60 to 0. In addition to this Shelby has piled up big scores against Oberlin, defeating it 19 to 6. Shelby lost its only game, the first practice game to the Alumni, 6 to 0. Coach Paul Curry's eleven has a habit of not allowing opponents to score.

Other league teams are playing non-league games.

BEAR STORIES COMING FROM COLUMBIA'S CAMP

New York, Oct. 13—Columbia's chances of victory in the Lion's intersectional football game with Ohio State here Saturday were lessened today by a serious injury sustained by Quarterback Cy Empringham.

The quarterback sustained a torn muscle in his back in the Union game and may be out of the lineup for the entire season. Jack Rieger will replace him.

Good music doesn't need to be composed, so long as plenty of money is paid for bad.

Truth May be Told About Harry Wills in Jack Sharkey Bout Tonight

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—Truth, crushed to earth, will rise again like the milk man at 1:45 a. m. or words to that general effect, and the truth about Harry Wills, who helped to hound one champion heavyweight champion into defeat and another beyond the dark side of the color line, may be told in ten syllables at Ebbets Field tonight or it may be that at the end of 15 rounds with Jack Sharkey this mystery man of fistiana will be as much of a competitive enigmatist as ever. It looks, however, as though Wills may have picked a live one by mistake.

The great minds will tell you that Harry can't fight an actual lick; that the good ones are barred from his gymnasium workouts in order that an illusion of grandeur may be preserved for Wills and for the public. They say he has a fragile jaw, that his legs are human rubberoid and that his hands are as brittle as so much peanut candy.

This may or may not be so; perhaps tonight's returns will supply the answer. Sharkey is no Tut Jackson, Charley Weinert, Floyd Johnson or Jack Thompson. He seems to be quite a young man when the spirit moves him and the writer has seen him worse, both back of his heels from a punch on the jowl and into furious action from the same source of inspiration. Yet the idea persists that Sharkey may not be all that he seems. He is fast, hits well with both hands and is an excellent boxer, just the type that annoy Wills. The man is a fool who decides that safety is best achieved by holding on with Harry. He tears that kind in two with his pulling and hitting. But the man who steps around and keeps Wills at a distance more than has a chance. He has the right half way before he starts.

Sharkey may be that man. He has proved that he has everything except the most essential virtue of the fighting man. Sharkey has yet to prove that he really likes or even tolerates the misery that full many punch on the chin is worth two in the anteroom, provided the latter are applied immediately.

Somehow, the writer has gained the impression that Sharkey gets virtually no gratification from a punch on the chin. I may be wrong in this tentative diagnosis but others have recognized it with the explanation that he is lazy or that he lacks the ambination. Others less charitable have used a shorter and stronger word.

However, the boy wouldn't be meeting Wills if he didn't think he could beat him and perhaps he has the smart ones fooled, including Harry himself. One of the few times that worthy has gone to the races with a reasonably good man, as wit, Hartley Maiden, he failed to score a knockout in 15 rounds and several times was in such a precarious way that he started for the wrong corner.

If that was Wills' real speed any enterprising gent, with 10 years or more of a pull in the ages should be able to take the play away from the aging colored man. But if he goes in there scared silly Wills will cut him down like a stalk of corn. Harry likes that kind.

Babe Ruth and Southworth Scheduled to Play at Lima Friday With Independents

Other Luminaries Booked To Appear with Team Which Has Repeatedly Ignored Marion Athletic Club's Pleas for Return Match

LIMA, O., Oct. 12—Baseball will have its brief autumnal setting in this city on Friday, Oct. 15, when Babe Ruth, star of the recent world series, will play with the local club against the Celina team in the deciding game of the inter-county championship. Lima won the first game from Celina two weeks ago, on Sunday, behind the masterful pitching of "Lefty" Scobs, Celina evened the series count by a score of 1 to 0.

In addition to Ruth, the Lima club will have such stars as Billy Southworth, St. Louis outfielder and another star of the late world series; Frank Gilhooley and Mickey Heath of the Toronto Minor League champions and Pinkie Pittinger, late of the Louisville club and now the property of the Cincinnati Reds in lineup. With Celina will be Bruno Betzel, of the Louisville club; Tavener of the Detroit Americans and Ty Freigan of the Cubs, besides other league luminaries.

Ruth's Appearance

The game is expected to prove the banner event of the season in the ranks of semi-pro baseball in Ohio. This city is the only one in Ohio in which Ruth will appear following the world series on his way to the Pacific coast.

LIMA INDEPENDENTS AGAIN CHALLENGED

Lima tells of the scheduled appearance of Babe Ruth and Billy Southworth among other well-known players, in a game scheduled for Friday between Lima and Celina, "for the inter-county championship." It is not known which counties are included in this championship event. Fans would like to see a game for the championship of Allen and Marion Counties, as well as for the balance of the state between the state champions, the Marion Athletics and the Lima Independents.

Lima is the only team in the state holding a victory over the local team which has not been avenged in a return game. There are two teams which the Athletics are anxious to meet. Lima is one, and the other team is the Meadel Tailors of Columbus.

Since July 4, Manager Bacon has been trying to bring Lima here for a return game, but all his efforts have been unavailing. If Lima would rather play on their home grounds they can be accommodated, as the thing desired by the Athletics is an opportunity to wipe out the defeat administered by the Independents, July 4.

Tourney Sunday

The Athletics will take part in another four-city tournament at Lincoln Park Sunday. Other teams participating will be Crestline, Elyria and Willard.

From the big-headed man's view point this is a tiny world.

RACERS READY FOR LONG RACE

America's Auto Champion To Be Determined at Salem, N. H.

Rockingham Speedway, Salem, N. H., Oct. 12—While the country today was celebrating the discovery of America by Columbus, automobile fandom of the East was making a Klondike rush to this monster spruce saucer in the valley of woods and farms just above the Massachusetts-New Hampshire boundary line to discover before nightfall America's automobile racing champion.

The weather was fair today and there was the zip of autumn in the air.

The advantage lies with Harry Hartz, who is leading for 1926 championship honors, but Pete De Paolo and Frank Lockhardt all have a chance for the covered honor. The trio are close together in the number of points earned in various championship events this year. The title goes to the winner of today's 200-mile grind. Hartz did 136.3 miles per hour to qualify.

CENTRAL OHIO OFFICIALS' CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Session Held in Marion Steam Shovel Co. Office

Eighteen members of the Central Ohio Officials' Association attended the weekly meeting Monday night in the employment office of the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

President Francis Bacon led discussions of football rules and Official Allen Baily Compton, basketball coach at Harding High, explained some of his work at Granville Saturday where Cincinnati played Denison.

President Baron also told some of his experiences in the Northern Miami game at Oxford Saturday.

Members of the local club follow football games all over the central western states and many discussions are held weekly. Several members of the club reported that they saw Harding High defeat Findlay 13 to 9 last Saturday at Findlay in one of the best games they have witnessed this season. Other members of the club witnessed high school and college games in different parts of the state.

The next meeting of the club will be held the same place Monday night.

SAY BABE TO BE OFFERED $75,000

Contract Will Be for Only One Year, Is Rumor

New York, Oct. 12—According to reports in circulation today, Babe Ruth will be tendered a contract for next season calling for $75,000, the highest salary paid any man in baseball, player, manager or league president.

The contract will be for one year only, it was said.

Ruth's last contract, which was for three years, expired Sept. 26. It called for $52,000 a season.

SKULL PRACTICE

HARVARD grid team was defeated in its first game of the season for the first time in history when Geneva turned the trick the other day. Which shows what an enterprising publicity department can think of.

Well, anyhow, Flint Rhem can tell the home folks that he saw Babe Ruth in the world's series. Saw him run around the bases twice.

Jimmy Delaney, light heavy, is putting on weight and wants to meet Gene Tunney. According to custom Delaney must quit fighting for a year or two, hire a good press agent and then take the purse Rickard offers him.

OUST SISLER AS BROWNS' PILOT

Failure of Team Given as Reason for Let-Out

George Sisler is looking for a new job today as a result of being notified by President Phil Ball that he will not be retained as manager of the St. Louis Browns next season. Sisler's contract expired this season. He has not made a statement regarding his future work.

A complete failure of the team this season, is the only reason given for the discontinuance of Sisler's services, according to information received from President Ball who says "the team finishing in seventh place, is all the explanation that is necessary at this time." Bill Killefer, coach of the Cardinals, is not being considered for the position, said Ball.

Sisler joined the Browns in 1915 as a pitcher, but was used at first base and in the outfield. He pitched his last game in 1916 and since that time has played at the first sack. In 1922 he batted .420 and stole 51 bases and was awarded the "most valuable player" trophy.

Sinus trouble kept him out of play in 1923, but he resumed work in 1924 under Lee Fohl, who was released in September of that year. Austin finishing out the campaign. Sisler was named manager that fall.

Local prediction last spring when the Browns trained in Florida was that the American league club would win the flag or run close to first place. The complaint has been made that Sisler was lenient in the handling of his men and that this was mainly responsible for the cracking of his pitching staff.

This year, for the first time in seven seasons, Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals failed to win the National League batting championship.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT UNDEFEATED TEAMS

Cincinnati already Decision will probably forge another link on its chain of title claim.

Another defeatless college exposes itself to disaster when Muskingum takes on Ohio Northern at Ada. The hazard, however, is slight for the Magenta is easily the stronger eleven while the Norsemen have continued to show nothing spectacular.

With no apparent effect on the conference race, Case and Mt. Union meet at Alliance. Each was defeated by the narrowest kind of a margin, so close that one play would have changed the aspect of the game and the league race. If Coach Fletcher can get intelligent play in his backfield, he will win, for the Scientists' line is a powerful wall and can hold its own and open its holes. Mt. Union, with Armstrong as its satellite, made creditable showing against Oberlin and may be counted on to give all it has. Case looks best in the choice.

Akron Expects Walkaway

Akron, another 1,000 team, expects and undoubtedly will have a walkaway at Hiram where the Cherry and Blue are scheduled to be mopped up again. Baldwin-Wallace entertains Otterbein at Berea and its questionable how much entertainment the Westerville aggregation will have.

Baldwin-Wallace is following its annual custom of losing its games at the start and the victory over Kenyon probably will begin its winning streak. Cincinnati plays Marietta, the conference baby, at Cincinnati, and should win, although Marietta is far from weak.

Among the non-conference encounters is the St. Xavier-Louisville affair at Cincinnati, the Heidelberg-Kent game at Tiffin, and the Dayton-Haskell Indian clash at Dayton.

Diana Esmond, 17-year-old daughter of a prominent French race-horse owner, is the new girl golf champion of England.

BASEBALL BOARD IS RENAMED BY ATHLETIC CLUB

Francis Bacon Rehired To Pilot Organization's Team

Nearly 300 members of the Marion Athletic Association held an enthusiastic meeting and smoker Monday night at the club headquarters, S. Main st.

During the business hour, baseball committeemen were highly complimented for their work this season and re-elected to serve next season. Members of the committee are Paul Castner, Norris Crissinger and Harry Hastings.

Baron Signed Again

Manager Francis Bacon was again named manager of the team which claims the semi-pro championship of Ohio with a season record of 26 wins and only 3 defeats. Manager Bacon is promised a substantial increase in salary to continue his work with the Marion Athletics.

Each member of the championship team was highly complimented for his work. Only a few changes will be made in the line up next season, according to announcement today by Manager Bacon.

Plans are being made to banquet the team in the near future.

Before adjournment many members of the club made inquiries regarding boxing this season. Boxing, the best that can be supported, has been promised by the association officials. Other winter sports will not be promoted this season.

The local O. N. G. grid team Sunday afternoon on the Chuck-Walt field held the Carey city team down to a score of 0-0.

The O. N. G. band under the direction of J. C. Hazen attracted a favorable mention with its first appearance on the grounds. There was a large crowd who were enthusiastic over the work of the local boys.

A. A. Quainbance is manager of the team and says that there are to be several other good games on Sundays, which are now under advisement.

MANY MATTERS BEFORE MT. GILEAD COUNCILMEN

Night Watchman Hired To Ring Curfew at 9 O'Clock

Mt. Gilead, Oct. 12—A number of minor and miscellaneous matters were discussed at the regular meeting of the Mt. Gilead council in the mayor's office last night.

Mayor Kauffman was instructed to communicate with Mr. McLaughlin of Cleveland of the Fairbanks Morse company, and invite him to Mt. Gilead to meet with the council for a discussion of the new water plant project.

Parking Question

The matter of parking on Cherry and Union streets by school students was discussed. Parking on both sides of the streets was thought to be dangerous by members of the council on account of the narrowness of the streets. A motion was made that parking be restricted to the north and west side of the streets. Mayor Kauffman was instructed to take the matter up with P. E. Arnold, superintendent of schools.

The inconvenience caused by interurban busses stopping on Main street and holding up traffic was discussed. It was decided that an investigation be made in regard to the stopping place of these bus lines. An effort will be made to prevent the busses from stopping in such a way as to obstruct traffic on the street.

To Ring Curfew

The council decided to pay Night Watchman Wesley England $1 per week for ringing the curfew on every night except Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. This old custom was revived last winter. The bell is tapped twice at 9 o'clock, when all youngsters are supposed to be off the streets.

AGOSTA BALL TEAM WINS FINAL GAME OF SEASON

Agosta, Oct. 12—The Agosta ball team finished the 1926 season Sunday by defeating the colored Giants of Marion by the score of 12 to 2.

Owing to the Marion team's late appearance on the field it was decided to only play a five inning game.

The main feature of the contest was the wonderful pitching of Agosta's 19 year old pitcher Arthur Kale, who retired 10 of the 19 men who faced him by the strikeout route.

MARYSVILLE TEAM TO MEET GRANDVIEW HIGH

Victories About Even for Schools in Five Years of Rivalry

Marysville, Oct. 12—The red and blue football eleven of Marysville High School set down to a hard week of practice yesterday at the practice session at Recreation Park. This is in preparation for the game with Grandview High School of Columbus, one of the strongest teams the locals expect to run up against this year.

The two teams have been staunch rivals for the past five years, with the games going about half and half. Last year the locals fell one point short of defeating the Columbus squad.

The locals function well on both the offense and defense but are a little weak on their forward pass work. Although this form of play will receive the most attention general workouts will be the menu for the Marysville gridsters at the practice session this week.

BROOKS FLETCHER TALKS AT C. OF C. LUNCHEON

"Why Your Hometown Looks Like You" Is Subject of Congressman

Kenton, Oct. 12—Standardization, systemization, organization and advertising, were pointed out as the four essentials in the building of a community or business, by Brooks Fletcher, Marion, congressman from the Eighth Congressional district, in addressing the chamber of commerce luncheon meeting here Monday.

Addressing more than one hundred business and professional men on the subject, "Why Your Hometown Looks Like You," the legislator and lecturer, scored the selfish individual who lives alone for himself and for personal wealth and fame.

"A community is only the expression of the will of its people and it is the duty of every individual to build up and contribute to the community, through organized service, for posterity," said Mr. Fletcher.

"The test of man's or woman's value is not what he or she gets but what they do. We must get the version of fellowship, friendliness and community welfare and service, for the town cannot rise above the collective thinking of its people and leaders."

Mr. Fletcher urged the city and towns to create opportunities for their youth upon the completion of their schooling. "Countless sums are invested annually," he said, "in educating the youth up to the age of productivity and then because of the lack of opportunities they leave to seek their livelihood elsewhere. This represents an inestimable loss to the community."

During the afternoon Congressman Fletcher spoke before the students of the Kenton high school. Accompanying him was Mrs. Fletcher who presented several solo selections.

Poland said he had lighted a match and was holding it over the opening in the gas tank to determine the amount of fuel, when it suddenly let go.

Flames shooting high into the air were visible for many blocks and within a short time a huge crowd had collected. The car was totally destroyed.

Bernard Hattery, Robinson avenue was the second accident victim reported in the city yesterday. He sustained bad cuts and bruises about the body when he accidentally fell from a moving automobile in which he and a group of friends were returning from Lake Idlewild.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

... it rained a cold rain all ... Me and Jubilee snuggled up ... we could get, and that was ... but I squoze the tongue out ... for he straightened out ... pushed me away from him, ... laid and shivered and shiv... ...ered and my teeth rattled ... me awake, and finely I ... shut the door to keep Jubi... ...lowing me and started to ..., but my mother had put ... clothes on the stairs to ... the first time she came and ... them and then my head ... of my back and the rest ... the stairs at the same time. I hit the door at the foot of ... hard that I busted it ... And then I heard my father ... quirt voice, "Who's that?" ... still and groaned, and then ... father asted, "That you. ... Then I groaned again, and ... voice said, "No." Then I ... little louder, and I heard ... say, "What is it, granpa?" ... grandfather said, "I heard a ... woke up, and then I heard ... ale groaning. I will go out ... what it is as soon as I get ... If you get dressed before I ..." Then after a long time my grandfather asted my uncle if he was not dressed yet, and he said he couldn't find one of his socks. Then he asted my grandfather if he wasn't dressed, and my grandfather said he was having trouble putting on his collar and tie in the dark, and I heard my father say, "Ye gods, do you have to put on a collar and tie to shoot a burglar? I'd a been out there a hour ago if me was not hanging to the tail of my nightshirt. Then my aut said in a offal little voice, "The groaning is stopped, but I hear something dripping. Do you suppose it can be blood?" Then my mother hollered, "Someone has murdered Thomas Aristides, and that is his blood coming through the ceiling." So then I made up my mind to not ast for a blanket and sneck back to bed without making a noise.

After a while I heard them all talking, and then my father started upstairs and fell over the clothes and swore, and then he came in my room with a light, and I pretended to wake up and stretched and asted him what was the matter, and he said "Nothing." I said, "Gee, pa, will you get some more clothes and put on my bed?" He said, "You come down and sleep with me and your mother. So Jubilee was left all alone, and my father let the light burn all night.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

... Nimble and Skimble! It is ... get up!" called Mrs. Longears, ... lady, in the hollow stump ... ow one morning. "Don't be late ... ool!"

... the other forty 'leven little bun... ... and girls were eating their ... but Nimble and Skimble ... to be a bit late.

"They are sleeping soundly," said Uncle Wiggily, who sat at the head of the breakfast table, twinkling his pink nose as he watched his little bunny boy and girls eat.

"I must get them up," said Mrs. Longears. "Nurse Jane, will you please call Nimble and Skimble?"

Going to the foot of the stairs, the motherly housekeeper squeaked in a loud voice:

"Nimble and Skimble, come right down to your breakfast and get ready for school!" Almost at once Nimble answered and said:

"Here I come!" And down the banister rolling he slid. Perhaps Nimble got up so quickly because he thought Nurse Jane might have an extra carrot pancake with maple sugar on it for him.

"Where is your brother Skimble?" asked Uncle Wiggily as Nimble took his place at the table, having washed and dressed very quickly.

"He is still sleeping in bed, Daddiekins," answered.

"Dear me! I don't know what we are going to do with that boy!" sighed Mrs. Longears. "He isn't a bit like Nimble."

This was true. Nimble had been so named because he was very quick. He was quick to go to bed, and quick to get up. But his twin brother, Skimble, was just the opposite. Skimble always loved to be allowed to stay up a little later each night. And he stayed abed an hour later each morning.

"We must do something to teach Skimble a lesson," said Mrs. Longears to Uncle Wiggily, when, at last, the lazy bunny had been aroused and sent off to school.

"Perhaps," said the rabbit gentleman, "in my adventure walk today I will see something that will help us to teach Skimble not to be so lazy."

"I certainly hope so!" murmured the bunny lady.

Hopping across the fields, Uncle Wiggily stopped to look at a red flower, one of the last of the season, when, all of a sudden the bunny saw a large yellow bumble bee on the blossom.

"Oh, I guess I don't want to be choosy," cried Uncle Wiggily as he quickly lifted his pink nose away from the flower.

"Why, I wouldn't sting you if I wanted to, and I couldn't if I wanted to," buzzed the bee.

"Why couldn't you," asked the rabbit gentleman.

"Because I am what is called a shady bumble bee," was the answer. "I have no stinger. I fly around among the flowers but I never sting. I am like the drone in a hive of bees. I never sting."

Then Uncle Wiggily laughed and said: "Would like to do me a favor, shady bumbler?"

"Yes, I would," buzzed the bee. "What is it?"

"Come to my bungalow," went on the rabbit, "and tomorrow morning when it is time to get the children up for school, fly in Skimble's room. Buzz about his ears. He will think you are a stinger bee and to get out of your way he will jump up and come down stairs."

"I'll do it!" buzzed the shady bumbler.

The next morning Nimble arose quickly, as he always did, and went down stairs.

"Come, Skimble!" called Uncle Wiggily. "It is also time for you to get up and go to school."

"Oh, I'm sleepy! I don't want to get up yet!" murmured Skimble. Just then the shady bumble bee buzzed around the room, and the little boy rabbit, hearing the zizzling wings, leaped out of bed, crying:

"Don't sting me!" cried the little rabbit boy.

"Don't sting me! Don't sting me!"

"Then go down stairs at once!" buzzed the bee, never letting Skimble know he couldn't sting if he wanted to. So Skimble went down to breakfast faster than he had ever gone before and the bee flew back to the fields.

Never, after that was Skimble lazy or late. And if the loaf of bread doesn't jump off the table before the butter has a chance to play tag with it, I'll tell you next about Wiggily's cricket concert.

Anyone who has to be coerced into the ways of patriotism isn't worth it. Those who get up a father because of a recalcitrant here and there might be wiser.

Stock Prices Show Almost Uninterrupted Decline and Average Drops Eight Points

Movement, Believed To Be Principally Speculative "Shake-Out," Restores General Level of Industrials to That of Jan. 1; Columbus Day Widely Observed

New York Oct. 12—Columbus Day was observed as a legal holiday in 31 states including the states in which the New York Stock Market, Chicago Board of Trade New Orleans Cotton Exchange and the Kansas City Grain Exchanges operate.

Consequently the suspension of business today in these exchanges as well as the banking institutions of the 31 states and most of the representative industrial enterprises constitutes the nearest approach to a national holiday of any of the so-called sectional holidays.

For a period of about 10 days there has been an almost uninterrupted decline in stock prices, bringing the general average of prices down about eight points from the level of Oct. 1. This movement, which is believed to be principally a speculative "shake-out" and an uncovering of stop loss orders in the speculative leaders, has restored the general level of industrial stock prices to that of the first day of January of this year.

Little Change Occurs

It is rather remarkable that in the nine months' period since last December, a period containing one of the most disastrous declines and one of the most sensational advances in the whole history of speculation, so little real change should have occurred in the average price of representative railroad and industrial stocks traded in on the New York Stock Exchange.

This is not to say that prices of all stocks or even of all groups of stocks are now at exactly the same level as on the first of the year, but the declines in some groups have obviously exactly offset the advances in others as the following comparison of stock prices amply demonstrates the figures representing the closing average of 20 railroad and 20 industrial stocks in the Industrial News Service compilation.

Date	20 Rails	20 Indus
Jan 1 1926	93.86	123.98
Feb Mar low	84 51	100 11
June 30	95.07	116 01
Aug Sept. high	102.60	130 49
Close Mon. Oct. 11	96.00	118.66

Making allowance for the statistical loss of 3.50 points in the changing of General Motors to the new valuation following the 50 per cent stock dividend, makes the Oct. 11 average 122 16, compared with 123.98 at the opening of the year.

Wall Street's Position

Wall Street's position at the present time may be briefly described as bullish on business and bearish on the stock market. In other words, while a season of good business and satisfactory profits for the big industrial concerns lies just ahead, it is believed that stock values have risen too fast and have out distanced the comparative values of the former period, measured by the said stock of probable earnings and the ability to pay dividends.

Wall Street bankers say that the industrial concerns have added enormously to their surplus funds in the last four years. This new wealth has been built on solid ground. There has been no inflation. Inventories are normal and incoming orders satisfactory. All of which indicates, disregarding the movement of stock prices, there is absolutely nothing to worry about.

FOG CAUSES CROSSING COLLISION IN COLUMBUS

Cincinnati Fireman Injured; Crew Unable To See First Train

Columbus, Oct. 12—A. R. Weekley, of Cincinnati, a Pennsylvania Railroad fireman, was injured in a collision between two freight trains at a crossing here today. A dense fog was blamed for the collision.

Several of the cars caught fire but the flames were extinguished before they could gain any headway.

Both trains were Pennsylvania Railroad freights and were bound for Columbus from Cincinnati. The first train had stopped for the crossing, but the second train crashed into it. Weekley leaped from the engine of his train when it was about ready to run into the rear of the train standing at the crossing. As the hospital to which he was taken it was said he sustained a sprained back and severe cuts about the face.

The accident occurred at a Pennsylvania Big Four crossing.

The crew of the second train said it failed to see the first train standing at the crossing because of the thick fog which blanketed Columbus all morning.

Sure death to rats —and to rats only

Get rid of rats (and mice) this new safe way.

K-R-O, a newly developed powder, is made from squill bulbs as recommended by U. S. Dept. of Agriculture chemists. Use it freely, in perfect safety, around barns, outhouses or homes. A 10% mixture kills off rodents quickly and surely. Being a powder, it is easily mixed with any bait.

K-R-O is safe to use. In extensive tests large doses were fed to pigeons, dogs, cats and chickens and not a single death or permanent injury occurred. Yet rats and mice died quickly from much smaller doses. Many farmers who experimented with it are delighted with results.

Sold on money-back guarantee. In 2-oz. tins—makes 200 or more pieces of bait. At your druggist's.

REVEREND DR. COFFIN, president of Union Theological Seminary, says: "I don't think this presbytery should tell people how to vote. That is what the Roman Catholic Church does. We Protestants object to this."

THE Catholic News replies, editorially, "The Catholic Church does nothing of the kind. Political topics are never discussed in Catholic churches. No priests would so far forget himself as to tell people how they should vote."

If, however, a candidate were opposed, for nomination or election, because of his being a Catholic, Jew or Protestant, would not the clergy of the different religions be justified in mentioning the fact?

THE English are concentrating on alliterative sentences, in place of word puzzles. "Alliteration's artful aid" can be used to advantage often. And to develop knowledge of language the alliteration craze is more useful than the word puzzle.

TO select words for yourself is better than puzzling over words selected by another. Many children have tried to repeat rapidly, "Shoes and socks shock Susan." The administration, which will soon be asking farmers' votes, might think over this run of word, "Cotton, corn, crops, crisis."

OUR immigration laws keep out the best men and women of Europe—enterprising, ambitious people that would like to come.

International smuggling bands are bringing in the worst kind of foreign population, those whose coming is based on crime and deception, men without wives or children, breaking into this country across the Mexican border, as thieves break out of jail.

Eight thousand foreigners are said to be in Mexico now, waiting to be brought in.

It would be better to select the right kind in Europe and admit them openly.

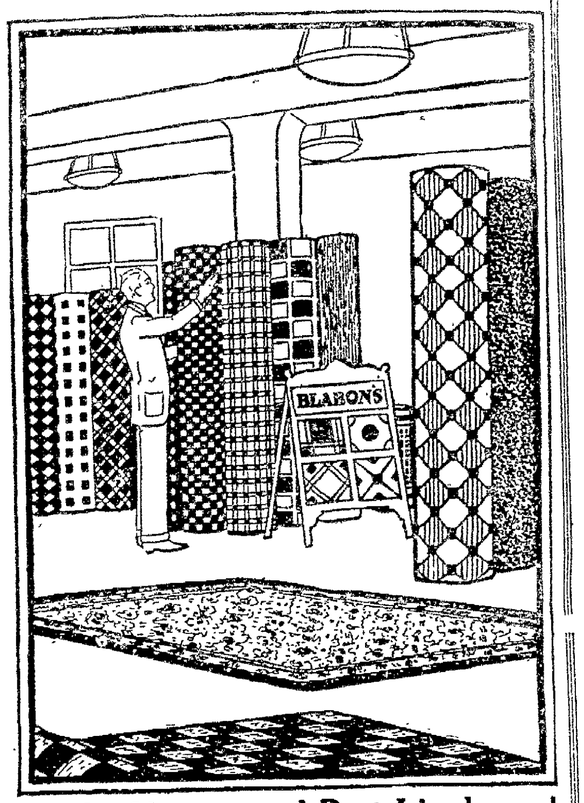
Beautiful Floors!



Of the Newest and Best Linoleums!

We are now showing the latest patterns in both "Armstrong" and the famous "Blabon" Linoleums.

There is nothing which adds so much "atmosphere" and comfort to the home as does the proper harmonizing of the color scheme of the linoleum. And too—after you have selected the proper color—you will be happy to know that you can always keep it looking fresh and clean if properly treated and not abused. We of course are only too happy to give to you this desired information.

GOOD LINOLEUMS—PROPERLY LAID MEAN

"Permanent Linoleum Floors"

After you have selected the harmonizing color in the quality desired remember: The method of laying the linoleum means either a poor floor or a "Permanent Floor." Our expect service department recommends—after careful consideration of floors and sizes—to you the correct method for your particular home.

"Felt Paper Method"

of laying linoleum is highly recommended for it adds to the quietness and resiliency of the floor, protects the linoleum against expansion and contraction, prevents buckling or bulging caused by the linoleum "creeping" and also makes it comparatively easy to remove when desired.

After the felt paper has been pasted in place, the linoleum properly cemented, the linoleum correctly cut, and fitted to the room and walls—the linoleum thoroughly rolled—you will then be able to enjoy a "Permanent Floor" with color harmony—beauty, satisfaction and durability as the qualities desired in every modern home.

See our large selection—"The best and largest in Central Ohio"—Printed Linoleum start at $1.00 square yard.

Inlaid Linoleum start at $1.50 per square yard.

"Battleship"

Yes, of course, we specialize on Blabon's "Invincible" Battleship, Plain Linoleum and Cork Carpet.

For offices and industrial buildings, for banks, theaters, hospitals and all commercial buildings—be sure to get our estimates on this famous covering.

Remnant Sale of

Linoleums

We have a limited collection of short cuts of good grade linoleums. These will be sold at very low prices.

Measure your room and requirement, bring them in and select a remnant at this special price.
